Senator Demands Government Relieve Unemployment

DEBATE OVER TARIFF BILL INTERRUPTED

New York Democrat Declares Wages Paid Declined 15% in 4 Months
OFFERS RESOLUTION

Fifty Millions Asked For Aid In Relieving Situation Throughout U. S.

WASHINGTON, March 3.—(UP)—A demand that the administration turn its attention to the problem of the unemployed was made in the senate today by Senator Wagner, Democrat, New York, adding that wages paid out declined 15 per cent between October and February.

Interrupting debate on the tariff bill, Wagner brought up the employment subject, charging the administration with attempting to belaud and conceal the real facts from the people.

Prior to the Wagner speech, the senate by unanimous consent relieved the appropriations committee of considering the Brookhart unemployment resolution and sent it to the committee on education and labor.

The resolution, offered in the senate Saturday, proposed to appropriate $50,000,000 to be expended by the American Red Cross and the quartermaster general of the army "in such a manner as the president shall by regulation prescribe" for relief of unemployed.

"The bureau of labor statistics," Wagner said, "reported that one per cent of the wage earners employed in factories were fired in October; three per cent more were fired in November; three per cent in December; almost two per cent in January."

"But that does not tell the whole story. That would indicate the firing of nine per cent of the men and women on the payrolls. The more significant fact is that the total amount paid out in wages declined fully 15 per cent in the same few months."

"According to data assembled in 40 cities, 19 per cent of the union members were idle in January."

LAUNCH WITH SEVEN ABOARD MISSING

SAN FRANCISCO, March 3.—(UP)—Hope for the safety of seven passengers of a small pleasure launch which was sought all night in lower San Francisco bay waned today.

With only five gallons of gasoline, the small craft, carrying J. V. Broman, San Mateo school department employee; his six-year-old son, his brother, L. S. Broman, Louis Broman, Charles S. Loyd and Miss Ellen McMullen left Hunter's Point dock yesterday afternoon en route to Pacific City and has not been seen since.

A coast guard speed boat and police boats, summoned last night by Mrs. Broman, unsuccessfully combed the bay with searchlights all night.

SAN FRANCISCO IS VISITED BY COL. LINDBERGH

Ace Flyer Predicts Glider Planes Will Be Used to Instruct Beginners

SAN FRANCISCO, March 3.—(UP)—Colonel Charles A. "Slim" Lindbergh today was preparing to visit several of the flying fields in the San Francisco bay region after predicting that in the future glider planes would undoubtedly be put to use in training flyers.

The colonel and Mrs. Anne Lindbergh landed at Mills field here late yesterday after a rapid flight from Burbank, Calif., in "Lindy's" new low wing Lockheed monoplane.

It is understood that Lindbergh may attempt to set a new coast to coast flying record and may have even more ambitious schemes in mind for his new plane but he will not talk about them.

The new ship has a very great cruising radius, and a high speed of better than 170 miles per hour. It is the same type plane which Lieutenant Harold G. Bromley plans to take off in this spring at Tacoma, Wash., for a non-stop flight to Tokyo, Japan.

Pointing out the low cost of gliders and the ease with which they are handled, Colonel Lindbergh said, "I believe that glider flying will be used much more extensively in the future for training purposes."

"It is unquestionably safer for such purposes than the motored plane and even if some of the wing controls are out of order a landing can be effected."

POLICE READY FOR FURTHER DISORDERS

NEW YORK, March 3.—(UP)—Preparations were made by police today to quell any possible further disorders arising from Communist demonstrations, which have become almost a daily occurrence here.

While Matthew Woll, vice president of the American Federation of Labor, was issuing a statement charging the Bolshevik government of Russia with deliberately and openly promoting its revolutionary program here, police yesterday broke up a fierce hand-to-hand battle between two rival Communist factions.

Four men and an 18-year-old girl were arrested as a result of the week-end fight, that started when a group of left wing Moscow Communists invaded a memorial meeting in honor of the late C. E. Ruthenberg, leader and founder of the American Communist party.

RAIN STORMS SEEN IN MARCH FORECAST

SANTA CLARA UNIVERSITY, March 3.—(UP)—The March forecast of Father Jerome Ricard, world famous "Padre of the Rains," who has been very ill for weeks, was made public today.

It was explained that, although not done under his personal direction, the forecast was prepared by assistants who employed his methods.

The forecast follows: A temporary clearing tomorrow, then rain. A clearing at the last of the week. Cloudiness March 12, 13, 14, 15, with increasing storminess thereafter until the 18th, when there will be high winds and much rain.

March 20, 21, storm still on, but abating. Will clear March 22. Light storms March 23, 24, 25. Brisk south winds. Clearing March 26, 27. A storm of some intensity arriving from the north on about March 28, should reach its highest intensity on March 29.

March 31 will be clear.

TO QUIT POST Homer Chaney, councilman from the third ward, who will tender his resignation this evening.

HOMER CHANEY TO RESIGN AS CITY ALDERMAN

Understood Will Tender His Resignation to Council This Evening

Homer Chaney this afternoon announced his intention of filing with the city council tonight his resignation as councilman from the third ward.

Overtaking of his strength by extra duties imposed on him as member of the city governing body was assigned by Chaney as the reason for his withdrawing from the trustees. It is a known fact that the condition of Chaney's health has not been of the best in recent months.

Chaney became a member of the council two years ago, when he was appointed to succeed W. G. Knox, who resigned his council position to take up the duties of city manager, as successor to the late E. B. Collier.

It also is known that the resigning member contemplated such a move some months ago, and that he did not vary out his intention because of the first threat of the recall and the later execution of the threat.

Loyalty to his colleagues and his desire to stay with the group and fight the recall through to a finish were factors that detained him from presenting his resignation.

Friends of Chaney who were aware this afternoon of his contemplated action, declared their regrets that conditions obtained that forced him to withdraw from administrative affairs of the city, and they pointed to the keen business and executive talent evidenced by the retiring councilman in his consideration and action on matters of importance and city-wide interest.

Chaney will ask that he be relieved as soon as the council can agree on his successor. So far as is known no one has been mentioned as yet as his possible successor.

Premier Tardieu Leaves Saturday For Naval Parley

PARIS, March 3.—(UP)—Premier Andre Tardieu, who formed a new cabinet and took over the government Sunday, will leave Saturday for London to resume leadership of the French delegation to the five power naval conference.

The other French delegates will leave Thursday, provided, of course, that Tardieu is given a vote of confidence in the chamber of deputies as expected—thus permitting the conference to take up its work again at the point where it left off when Tardieu's government was defeated February 17.

Tardieu said today that the French viewpoint at the naval conference would remain exactly the same as outlined in his previous memorandums and statements.

CONDITION OF EX-PRESIDENT IS UNCHANGED

William Howard Taft Takes Relapse and Is Unable To Recognize Son

WASHINGTON, March 3.—(UP)—William Howard Taft clung tenaciously to life today as he neared the anniversary of the high point of his brilliant career, his inauguration as the 27th president of the United States on March 4, 1909.

The clear cool day contrasted sharply with the biting bluster of the March blizzard which escorted Mr. Taft into the office of chief executive 21 years ago.

And further contrast was found in the weak and helpless condition of the dying man today as compared with the hale health of the he took the oath of highest office on that date.

No change was reported in Mr. Taft's condition when Drs. Thomas Clayton and Francis Hagner, his physicians, made their last call, shortly before midnight. At that time he was sleeping quietly.

After rallying sufficiently to greet his physicians, early yesterday Mr. Taft relapsed into semi-consciousness last night and barely recognized them when they made their evening call. He was unable to speak at that time.

His encouraging rally Saturday was pronounced only temporary and today he seemed in about the same condition as three days ago when his death was expected momentarily.

FORMER DICTATOR'S SON FIGHTS DUFI

PAMPLONA, Spain, March 3.—(UP)—Miguel Primo De Rivera, hot blooded son of the former dictator of Spain, fought a duel with swords against Artillery Commandant Antonio Rexach today, in which both men were wounded.

The wounds were slight, however, and both were unconcerned although their "honor was satisfied."

Miguel De Rivera has been busy, ever since his father's downfall, "defending the dictator's record" against the assaults of his political enemies.

LINDBERGH PLANS S. F. GLIDER TESTS

SAN DIEGO, March 3.—(UP)—Possible glider tests in the San Francisco bay region by Col. Charles A. Lindbergh were seen, here today, when it was learned the flier had shipped a motorless plane to that city.

Col. and Mrs. Lindbergh flew to San Francisco yesterday. At the same time a glider, known as the Anne Lindbergh, was being loaded on the S. S. Yale, to be taken north under the care of Jack Barstow, assistant to the national glider champion, Hawley Bowlus.

KELLY SENTENCED TO 10 YEARS IN PRISON

SAN QUENTIN PENITENTIARY, Calif., March 3.—Once sentenced to hang, Pat Kelly, "butcher boy murderer" of Los Angeles, today faces a sentence of 10 years in San Quentin on a charge of manslaughter.

Kelly's sentence was fixed last yesterday by the state prison board in session here. He was convicted in Los Angeles superior court more than a year ago for the murder of Mrs. Myrtle Melius, society leader of that city.

One Arrested And Is Held In Jail Here

Resident of Midway City Is Instantly Killed When Run Down By Car

ONE MAN was killed, one was arrested, and nine persons injured in seven automobile accidents reported to the sheriff's office and police station here over the week end. Most of those hurt were Santa Ana persons, but none were believed fatally hurt.

Alton Flagg, 65, retired, a resident of Midway City, was instantly killed at 7:30 o'clock last night on Huntington Beach boulevard, near the extension of West Fifth street, when he was run down by an automobile driven by Leo Koppl, of 412 Eighth street, Huntington Beach.

The accident occurred in front of a garage and service station and is said to have been witnessed by several persons. It was stated that Flagg suddenly stepped out in front of the Koppl machine, and was struck before the car could be stopped. Koppl was on his way to Huntington Beach at the time.

Flagg died instantly. A crushed skull was given as the cause of death. The body was removed to the Dixon funeral parlors at Huntington Beach, where Coroner Charles D. Brown has called an inquest for tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock.

Flagg resided with his wife at Midway City. He also leaves two sons, residing in the east.

Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Turner, of Huntington Beach, were injured at 6:30 p. m. last night when the automobile in which they were riding, collided with a car driven by Mrs. K. A. Hoxsie, wife of a former superintendent of the Union Oil company at Huntington Beach. The accident occurred on Hampshire boulevard, at Yorktown street, in Huntington Beach.

Both cars were badly wrecked. Mrs. Turner received serious injuries about her chest, including several broken ribs and possible internal injuries. She was taken to the Santa Ana Valley hospital. Her husband received a broken thumb and cuts about the head. No one else was hurt.

FAMOUS BRITISH AUTHOR SUCCUMBS

VENICE, France, March 3.—(UP)—D. H. Lawrence, 44, noted British novelist and poet, died here of tuberculosis, surrounded by geniuses from the continental world of literature.

Announcement of his death was made today, although it occurred at 9 p. m. yesterday.

Lawrence had been critically ill for several weeks, and his wish that he might be taken to Arizona, either to die or recuperate could not be granted because of his condition.

The eminent American sculptor, Jo Davidson, made his last journey before death.

Workers Leave As Shadow Of Dread Grips Community

MARION, Ind., March 3.—(UP)—The shadow of dread lay across this busy industrial center today and edged across the fertile farm country about it as another 24 hours passed with no solution of the mysterious bombings which have claimed five lives in recent months.

Members of the Mould Makers' union, to which the five men singled out by unknown assassins belonged, announced plans to leave good jobs with the two local factories and abandon their homes. The terror that has haunted them has been communicated to other workers and to citizens in general. Farmers who drive in to sell a load of grain or leave a basket of eggs at the market have listened to the gruesome details of how men were blown to bits as they stepped on automobile starters. They, too, are uneasy.

MISSOURI WORKMEN CALL STRIKE TODAY

KANSAS CITY, Mo., March 3.—(UP)—A strike of 8000 workmen, called for today, was expected to wipe out approximately $20,000,000 worth of new building here.

The vote to strike came Friday night after representatives of the trades unions and of the Builders' association failed to reach adjustments.

The tradesmen asked that their new contracts provide for a five-day week with an increase averaging from $1.23 to $1.35 an hour.

"TACTLESS TEXAS" EDITOR GOES TO BAT FOR WIDOW OF YOUTH WHO DIED IN CHAIR

AMARILLO, Tex., March 3.—(UP)—Gene Howe the "tactless Texan," who has dared to defer with such personalities as Col. Charles Lindbergh and Mary Garden, will play the role of a modern Lachinvar this week when he leaves for New York where he will attempt to win a share of the profits from "The Last Mile," a Broadway theatrical sensation, for a 60 year old widow whose son died in the electric chair for murder.

During his last days in the death cell of the Texas penitentiary Robert Blake wrote of his experiences—his mental anguish and his despair of life. He died in the electric chair April 29, 1929, for murdering Fred Conner at Tulsa, Tex., during an attempted robbery. His article, "The Law Takes Its Toll," was published in the American Mercury with copyrights assigned to his mother.

EARTHQUAKES DO DAMAGE IN BRAWLEY AREA

Imperial Valley Shaken By More Than 40 Temblors In Last Few Days

BRAWLEY, Calif., March 3.—(UP)—Residents of this city had an extra task as they went about their affairs here today, that of cleaning up the debris left by a series of minor earthquakes which shook the Imperial Valley intermittently for several days.

As the earth rumblings died away last night and people returned to their homes, earlier damage estimates dwindled and it was generally agreed that $75,000 would cover cost of reconstruction.

The damage was principally in broken plate glass, fallen cornices and smashed crockery. Only four buildings were damaged to any extent and but one of these, an apartment house, will have to be rebuilt.

One fire had been reported but it was believed to have been of incendiary origin.

Police knew of only one serious injury, Mrs. E. C. Dunham, whose leg was broken by falling brick.

The severest shocks occurred Saturday, when most of the damage was done by two temblors. At midnight Saturday four shocks came within ten minutes, and several more were felt during yesterday and last night.

With nightfall Sunday however, the temblors became less frequent and were of slight intensity.

There was no record of the number of shocks during the last six days, but it was known there had been 40 during the 24 hours preceding last Wednesday morning.

The natives of the valley, who had known other such periods in past years when a series of quakes lasted for six or seven days, were not alarmed by the latest disturbances.

A few of the newer residents were frightened however, and many walked the streets Saturday night fearing to sleep in their homes. Most of the transients left town at once, and some citizens went into the mountains and to San Diego.

$150,000 ESTATE

LOS ANGELES, March 3.—(UP)—A number of institutions profited by the will filed here today in which Herman Ginsberg, former Boston, Mass., resident, disposed of a $150,000 estate. The bequests included: Home for Destitute Children, Boston, $2,000; Jewish Old People's Home, Boston, $2,000; Mt. Sinai Hospital, $1,500; Jewish Hospital for Consumptives, Denver, $500, and other minor bequests. The residue of the estate was given to the widow and other relatives.

Food Rations For Indians Short Of Prescribed Diet

WASHINGTON, March 3.—(UP)—Daily food rations for the 25,000 Indian school children under government care, which averaged only 20 cents a child during the fiscal year just past, will still be short of the "minimum" diet prescribed by the United States Indian office, when the 1931 appropriations bill is enacted.

This was disclosed at the interior department today, in connection with charges that Indian children attending government schools are not getting enough to eat.

The appropriations bill now before the senate, together with proposed deficiency legislation, provides $7,182,500 for Indian school expenses.

This will allow but little over 34 cents a day to buy food for each Indian student. The interior department has found that "proper" feeding would entail a cost of 37.3 cents per child.

MEMBERS OF CREW SAID TO BE DEAD

Rancher Sees Wreckage In Hills 20 Miles North Of Lake Arrowhead

SEARCHERS GO OUT

One Wing of Plane Reported to Be Burned and No Signs of Life Seen

LOS ANGELES, March 3.—(UP)—The Western Air Express air liner, missing since Sunday, Feb. 16, was believed located in a smashed condition today at a point 20 miles north of Lake Arrowhead in the San Bernardino mountains.

The report was relayed here by the San Bernardino sheriff's office, who said J. T. Barber, rancher, reported he got within a mile of the wreckage and saw no signs of life through powerful field glasses.

Three men, Pilot James E. Doles, Co-pilot Albert Beiber and John Slaton, steward, were aboard the 12-passenger Fokker three-motor craft when it took off from Kingman, Ariz., enroute to Los Angeles.

The rancher, according to Sheriff Walter Shay of San Bernardino, climbed to a high section of the mountains and scanned a wide territory with his glasses. He located what he was sure was the wreckage of the plane lying in a box canyon. He said he saw no evidence that the three men were living. One wing of the plane seemed to be burned, he reported to the sheriff.

Sheriff Shay at once started a party of horsemen into the mountains from San Bernardino. It will take most of the day to make the trip, it was said.

Western Air Express advised of Barber's report a party of men from Los Angeles was enroute to the spot to reach the isolated spot.

Doles, one of the country's most experienced pilots, his young assistant, and Slaton, who recently joined the air force, had enough food and water to last them just about two weeks under stringency of economy.

It was believed that the three had little chance for life if their plane came down in the location described by the rancher.

A dozen or more planes, the blimp Volunteer and scores of men on the ground were engaged in the search for the plane and its occupants. Reliable information.

Hilleary Quits First National Bank In Anaheim

J. G. Hilleary, vice president and director of the First National bank at Anaheim, resigned today from his position with the financial institution. Efforts to locate the former bank official to confirm a rumor that he plans to run for the office of county treasurer at the next election was unsuccessful. Hilleary is known to have been considering entering the race.

Secretary Lamont reports that the amount of building contracts awarded in January, 1929, were $86,000,000 below that of January, 1928, in spite of the president's conference.

"These are challenging facts. They demand an answer. What answer does the administration offer? 'Delay in the tariff hits business.' This story emanated from the White House and was featured in almost every newspaper in the country on the 19th of February. I would spend little time on such artificial attempts at myth making if they were harmless. But they are not harmless because they divert attention from the real, substantial and permanent causes of unemployment—causes which can and ought to be eradicated."

Presidents Harding and Coolidge, Wagner said, had unemployment without the intervention of a tariff debate.

Wagner charged the labor department was without adequate statistics on the situation and demanded to know why attempts were not made to obtain them. He also charged political manipulation in order that the country may be led to believe "the president has means of knowing how many men are unemployed at a particular time and has precise methods of determining from day to day the level of unemployment, when as a matter of fact, he has neither the figures nor the means of securing them."

He quoted from President Hoover's campaign speeches to show the need of such statistics and said the administration had not taken the first step toward procuring them.

TWO CONVICTS ARE TAKEN TO PRISONS

John Lumbley and Ardye Hill, convicted of felonies here recently started to California prisons this morning to begin their sentences.

Hill will go to San Quentin and Lumbley to Folsom. The prisoners were taken north by Sheriff Sam Jernigan and LaMonte McFadden.

Lumbley was convicted of forgery and Hill of a statutory offense. The former has been in prison before.

Dan McLaughlin, Santa Ana, also was taken north by the officers. He will enter the Preston School for Boys.

WESTMINSTER

Notice has been received by the Westminster school district of the change in the date of the school bond election. The election will be March 25. The sum of the bonds to be voted is $25,000, and is for a new school building to support the present schools.

The election will be held March 28. Ed L. Hensley, whose term terminates, will not gain and no one has officially as candidate for the place.

Armand Hill, of Midway City, has declared his intention of running.

MISSING PLANE IS BELIEVED FOUND TODAY

tion said the plane had been sighted over the San Bernardino mountains after crossing the level Arizona desert country, where a landing would have been comparatively simple in case of emergency.

The group of men was led by J. T. Barber, a young rancher near Lake Arrowhead, who during the World war was in the nation's flying service.

Barber reported to Sheriff Walter Shay that he saw a huge plane fly over his ranch on Sunday, February 16, the day the missing plane, piloted by James E. Doles and carrying Co-Pilot Albert Belber and James Slaton, steward, left Kingman, Ariz., for Los Angeles.

"My army experience led me to believe the plane could not make it over a ridge about 20 miles from my home," Barber said. "I thought, however, by an outside change the pilot might come through safely. When I later heard a plane was missing I was able to tramp to a spot near where I last saw the aircraft."

Barber said he stood on a high point of rock and examined the country with powerful army glasses. He finally located the wreckage in a box-like ravine in a very wild territory, he said. He said one wing appeared to have burned and that he saw no sign to indicate the flyers were alive.

Barber came to San Bernardino after a trip through a mountain snow storm and reported his findings to Sheriff Shay, who said the plane markings described to him by the young rancher tallied with those supplied by the Western Air Express when the 13-passenger Fokker was reported missing.

Western Air Express also sent an automobile load of men from Los Angeles to aid in the search. They will go beyond San Bernardino into the mountains by car and then push on by foot. The sheriff's posse led by Barber was on horseback.

Present at the conference, in addition to those mentioned, were Secretaries T. A. Pickertill, Placencia; Hal Warner; Sam Clemente; A. C. Johnson, Garden Grove; V. D. Johnson, Orange; George Raymer, Santa Ana; E. R. Gillis, Westminster; Ernest Walker, Yorba Linda, and Harry May, Fullerton. Guests were Dr. F. W. Slabaugh, county purchasing agent; J. A. Cranston, superintendent of city schools, and R. H. Drake, superintendent of school buildings.

BOY SPEAKS FIRST WORD IN 27 DAYS

UKIAH, Calif., March 3.—(UP)—After an ominous stirring which seemed to presage his return to consciousness, Jack Harvey, 14, aunk back today into the coma which has gripped him for 27 days. The youth, who has lain unconscious since he was thrown on his head in an automobile accident on February 4, rallied sufficiently yesterday to attempt to say "enough" as his nurse was assisting him to drink a glass of water. The effort, however, was not repeated, and he lay still for the rest of the day and night.

Added to the fact that his temperature has been near normal for nearly three weeks is the strange circumstance that he is usually at his best in the early morning, the "zero hour" for most patients.

ONE ARRESTED AND IS HELD IN JAIL HERE

In the Hoxsie machine was reported hurt.

Olda Cerney, of Orange, reported to the sheriff's office yesterday that his car was struck by another machine one mile west of the Olive bridge, near Olive, Saturday night, causing a wreck in which he was slightly injured. The driver of the other machine did not stop to render aid, he reported. Cerney was taken to Orange for medical treatment.

Two persons were injured at 11:45 p. m. Saturday, at Edinger and Bristol streets, when automobiles driven by Baird T. Spell, of 2901 Orange avenue, and Ralph Vanderwalker, of 501 South Broadway, collided.

Marie Vanderwalker, of 501 South Broadway, and Lester W. Selby, 622 North Van Ness street, riding in the Vanderwalker machine, were reported hurt. Miss Vanderwalker received cuts and bruises and Selby complained of injuries to his ribs. They were taken to their homes. No one in the Spell car was injured.

No Opposition is Seen For Harbor School Candidate

NEWPORT BEACH, March 3.—Dr. F. C. Ferry is expected to be elected without opposition to the Newport harbor union high school board March 23, when three elections to school boards will be held in the harbor district. Charles H. Way is a candidate to succeed himself on the Newport Beach elementary school board and no opposition is looked for.

The other is to be the Costa Mesa elementary board, the term of Freeman H. Daley expiring. He is said to be undecided whether to run again or not.

Dr. Ferry was one of the five elected as members of the first high school board, when the district was organized recently. The term of two others, Leroy P. Anderson and Theo Robins, runs for two more years, and that of Donald Dodge and Mrs. A. P. Nelson until one year from now.

The former district attorney, whose trial is the result of an indictment returned by the grand jury after an investigation of the case, stated today that he felt confident the trial would satisfactorily straighten out the situation to the satisfaction of all parties. He advised that the district attorney's office previously had had the matter called to its attention but did not take action, thus indicating that the case was not strong enough to secure a conviction.

The indictment charges Nelson with the grand theft of $900 of the funds of the estate several years ago.

Mrs. Florence Berry suffered severe cuts and bruises when her car overturned in the crash. She was driving west on Fifth street at the time and the other Berry car was going north on Van Ness street. Mrs. C. H. Berry was slightly injured. Both women were taken to their homes after the accident.

Mrs. Rose M. Dungan, of 506 South Broadway, was reported injured at Seventeenth street and the Garden Grove road yesterday morning when the car in which she was riding with A. T. Dungan, collided with a car driven by L. W. Ogle, of Midway City. She was taken to her home, where it was not believed that her injuries were of a serious nature.

The meeting of the secretaries primarily was for the purpose of discussing with Motor Transit officials service for Orange county cities.

"The company is in position, and is anxious to render service in a way that will be beneficial to the individual communities and to the company," the vice president remarked.

He discussed the advisability of making a loop run from Santa Ana to Newport Beach and Laguna and asserted his belief that arrangements could be made with the Pickwick for the Motor Transit to do local work along the coastline between Long Beach and San Clemente. Extension to Dana Point and San Clemente of the P. - rail-way-stage service between Newport Beach and Laguna was suggested by Harry Welch, of Newport. Through cars from northern Orange county points to Orange county coast points were suggested as a service that would be beneficial to the county. Howell pointed out that if these problems were thoroughly gone over and then presented to him, his company would make every effort to solve them.

In answer to a query by George McLeod, secretary of the Newport Chamber of Commerce, as to whether the stage company would operate a ferry across Newport bay, Howell said he had not given such an enterprise consideration, but admitted that a ferry large enough to carry stage busses would be advantageous so far as facilitating stage transportation to the south was concerned.

Present at the conference, in addition to those mentioned, were Secretaries T. A. Pickertill, Placencia; Hal Warner; Sam Clemente; A. C. Johnson, Garden Grove; V. D. Johnson, Orange; George Raymer, Santa Ana; E. R. Gillis, Westminster; Ernest Walker, Yorba Linda, and Harry May, Fullerton. Guests were Dr. F. W. Slabaugh, county purchasing agent; J. A. Cranston, superintendent of city schools, and R. H. Drake, superintendent of school buildings.

TWOBLY NEW PRESIDENT OF BEE KEEPERS

Over 100 bee keepers of Orange county met Saturday in the farm advisor's office, here, to counsel on timely matters of the industry and elect officers for the ensuing year. The election put the following men in official positions for the bee keepers' department of the Orange County Farm Bureau.

Gerald Twombly, Fullerton, president; P. L. Crump, Santa Ana, vice president, and C. E. Lush, Orange, secretary.

The outgoing officers are L. B. Bell, Orange, president, and M. J. Pickering, La Habra, secretary.

Among the speakers on the program were F. E. Todd, state bee inspector, who reported on the National Honey Producers' league convention, in Milwaukee, Wis.

W. A. Wurth, bee inspector of Riverside county, described some labor-saving devices used in Idaho in connection with honey extraction.

Henry Perkins, bee inspector of Los Angeles county, outlined the legal aspects in relation to the destruction of colonies infested with American foulbrood. He stated that the courts upheld the practice of destroying colonies so infested because of protection to the industry.

Farm Advisor Harold E. Wahlberg outlined the costs involved in producing honey in Orange county. In 1927 the average production per colony was 40.9 pounds of honey; in 1928, 46.2 pounds, and 1929, 41.5 pounds. The cost of producing honey during these three years, according to cost data compiled by Wahlberg, was $11.09 per hundred in 1927; $8.56, in 1928 and $10.84, in 1929. The producers lost money in 1927 and just about broke even in the last two years.

Roy K. Bishop, Orange county bee inspector, reported that he had inspected 56 apiaries since January 1. He found only 23 colonies out of 1595 with foulbrood. Bishop said that the black sage in the hills is in good condition. The orange blossom flow will be early this spring, he reported, adding that bees are quite heavy in honey for this time of the year.

A. L. Boyden, president of the Boyden company, Los Angeles, presented a silver cup to Earl Emde, Yorba Linda, who was winner in the 4-H beekeeping contest last year.

HARD CUSTOMER
LONDON, March 3.—Mrs. Marmaduke, although old and frail, proved a tough customer for the British "talkie" cameramen at Torquay recently. When they were about to take a picture of some bathing girls, the old woman strode in front of the camera and refused to budge. "I do not approve of this nakedness. Here I am, and here I stay," she said. The cameramen were forced to postpone taking the picture.

Marmaduke, a tortoise in the London zoo, is said to have been alive in Queen Anne's day.

NATIONAL BEAN GROWERS' ASSOCIATION CITES NEED OF CO-OPERATION

Plans of the National Bean Growers' association for better distribution of beans throughout the nation were presented by R. L. Churchill, president of the national organization and manager of the California Lima Bean Growers' association, in an address at a meeting of Orange county bean growers in the city council chambers here Saturday afternoon.

The speaker went into detail as to conditions existing in the different bean growing districts of the nation and pointed out how better marketing conditions could be made to prevail by better co-operation of growers of the various districts.

He pointed out that control in planting is one of the essentials and compared prices, quality and quantity of products in other districts with those obtaining in California.

He asserted that in the eastern and middle western districts growers were getting only six and one-half cents a pound for their products, while California growers were getting as high as 11 cents, the difference being due to better grade beans and better control of marketing here.

Some of the other districts have large holdovers, while the California crop of last year has been cleaned up, or will be by the time the 1930 yield is ready for marketing.

Stressing the value of advertising, Churchill said that California limas now are largely consumed by the nation.

The national president also told his audience of conditions relative to storage and transit rates that were reacting unfavorably to Pacific coast growers.

Producers in the Richfield oil district have signed 100 per cent for reduction in production, it was announced here today by N. H. Anderson, oil umpire. The production has been reduced from 14,500 barrels to 8,500 barrels a day; the producers evidencing a fine spirit of co-operation to meet the demands for curtailment, Anderson said. The Richfield announcement follows that of a few days ago, when oil men in Huntington Beach agreed to a cut in production from 41,250 to 25,500 barrels a day.

Recent importations of strawberry plants into Orange county assure a plentiful supply of that fruit for consumers, according to Deputy Agricultural Commissioner D. W. Tubbs, who announced today that 279,225 plants had been shipped into the county during February. Lovers of shortcake or strawberry pie, or just strawberries and cream, will have an additional 420,000 boxes of berries from the production of the new plants, according to figures based on past production.

Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Winbiger were home today from a four-day automobile trip to the desert, visiting among other places, Stove Pipe Wells, Furnace Creek Inn, Death Valley Junction and Palm Springs. Pointing out that roads off the main highway are rocky, rough and crooked, Winbiger said that discomforts endured are more than offset by the pleasure one gets from glimpses of the various color formations on the rugged mountains. Weather conditions on the desert at this time are perfect, even though the nights are a little cold, the Santa Ana man said.

Members of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce were reminded today by Secretary George Raymer that the annual election

RETORT COSTS WITNESS $10 FINE ON CONTEMPT CHARGE

A sharp retort on the witness stand in the hearing before Judge H. G. Ames on the motion to set aside satisfaction of judgment in the case of Goodrich Brothers vs. Frank Goodrich resulted in a fine of $10 being levied by the court on the witness, Leal Goodrich, for contempt of court.

Goodrich later answered the question which had been propounded by Attorney Guss Hagenstein, "That's my business," is the retort which it is said drew the fine from the bench. Goodrich paid the fine and answered the question as well.

The case, which grew out of a claim by members of the firm which secured the judgment in superior court recently that Leal Goodrich, a member of the firm, in signing the satisfaction of judgment, did not represent the firm, and that no consideration was received, is continuing today before Judge Ames.

When Smart accepted the office, some 15 months ago, at the urgent solicitation of the board of directors he made it a distinct condition of his acceptance that he should be relieved of his routine duties as soon as a suitable man could be secured to take his place, as he then was on the eve of retirement from the Smart and Final Wholesale grocery business, of which he had been the active head for 15 years, for the purpose of rest, recreation and travel.

Smart will continue to serve on the board of directors and the bank will have the benefit of his long and successful experience as a business man.

Mellenthin, who has acquired a substantial holding of the bank's stock, comes from Monrovia, where he has lived for the last 10 years. Until about three years ago, he was active president and chief executive officer of the First National bank of Monrovia, which he built up from an infant institution of very small resources to a strong successful bank, and sold it to the Bank of Italy. At the time of the sale Mellenthin became an officer of the Bank of Italy in Los Angeles, remaining in that position until a few months ago, when he decided to return to country banking as a matter of personal preference.

After studying the entire field of Southern California, he decided to make an investment here and accept the position offered him by the Commercial National bank, because of the exceptionally fine climatic and living conditions of Santa Ana and the great natural wealth of Orange county.

Prior to coming to Southern California, Mellenthin had about 15 years banking experience in the middle northwest.

MRS. BEISEL IS FAVORED FOR RE-ELECTION

The approaching election in the fourth district P-T. A. together with possible candidates for office, plans for a student loan fund of $600 and a general exchange of working plans for the betterment of the association were among matters occupying the attention of approximately 40 association presidents of the district, who Friday held a council in the home of Mrs. Neal Beisel, 417 Cypress street, president of the district association.

A "straw vote" taken during the afternoon pointed unswervingly to Mrs. Beisel as the popular choice for next year's president, despite her refusal to accept the nomination. Among those named for the vice-presidency were Miss Kate Rea, of Anaheim, and Mrs. S. A. Preble and Mrs. Fay R. Spangler, of this city.

Mrs. William Holve and Mrs. Ida Greenwood were named as possible secretaries. The three officers will be elected at the district convention to be held in Anaheim, next month, following the presentation of the formal ballot at the board of managers' conference to be held in Costa Mesa, on March 11.

Way to Get At a Cold Is Through the Bowels

As soon as you catch cold, the pores close; perspiration is checked. Gases and waste can't escape through the skin. That's why your doctor's first advice in case of colds is a mild laxative like Cascara. Medical authorities agree it actually strengthens bowel muscles. You get cascara in its most pleasant form in candy Cascarets.

Remember this when you catch cold: whenever breath is bad; tongue coated; or you're head-achy, bilious, constipated.

Why resort to harsher things when Cascarets activate the bowels so quickly, so harmlessly and pleasantly—and cost only a dime?—Adv.

loan chairman, placed the necessity of increasing the loan fund before the body and discussed many plans by which the $600 needed might be secured. Presidents were urged to interest their associations in the fund and make it available for the fall semester.

Mrs. W. A. Proctor, president of Julia Lathrop P-T. A., invited the association members to enroll in the Mother's chorus under the leadership of Mrs. Frances Beeson. The chorus is sponsored by the Julia Lathrop association and is open to all members of the P-T. A. The chorus gave several delightful numbers at the Platts meeting and expects to sing at the state convention in Riverside, in May.

The tentative date of the art luncheon in Laguna was set for April 26. All P-T. A. members are privileged to join in the luncheon and visit the art gallery as guests of Mrs. A. B. Marshall, state and district chairman of art. Miss Margaret Livingston, county librarian, gave a talk on posters, displaying outstanding work of boys and girls of the county.

THREE DIVORCE DECREES ARE GRANTED HERE

Four divorce actions and one annulment case were tried Friday afternoon by Judge James L. Allen, resulting in three interlocutory decrees, dismissal of a receiver and refusal to annul.

Decrees were granted to Gertrude Stull from Logan Stull on a charge of desertion and to Lois Chapman from W. W. Chapman and Orelle Seagrunt from Frank R. Seagrunt on charges of cruel and inhuman treatment. Mrs. Chapman and Mrs. Seagrunt also were granted custody of their children and orders made for payment of certain sums monthly for the support of the children.

An old case, Adams vs. Adams, filed in 1925, following which a receiver was appointed by the court to assure proper care of property and payment of support, was received in court on an order to show cause on a final accounting of the receiver. The report was approved and the receiver discharged by the court.

The court refused to annul the marriage of Emma Searcy and Whit T. Searcy, which was asked by the wife, who claimed prior to her marriage she had been assured by her prospective husband that he had a good character, never was previous to a salesman and could support her as she was accustomed. After the marriage, she asserts, she learned that his claims were untrue.

ORANGE COUNTY IN FLORIDA IS ROTARY TOPIC

Rotarians tomorrow will experience a new and novel program when they assemble for the club meeting at St. Ann's inn at noon, according to announcement today by E. S. Morrow, who is to be program chairman.

Orange county is the richest little county in the state of California and Orange county in Florida is said to be the richest and most productive in that state.

Santa Ana is the county seat of Orange county, Calif., and Orlando is the county seat of Orange county, Fla., "so what could be better than an exchange of programs between the Rotary clubs in the two 'best counties on earth'."

Chamber of Commerce literature on Orange county will be placed at each plate at the luncheon meeting of the club at Orlando, and literature of the chamber at Orlando will be found at the plates of the diners here.

Resources of each of the counties will be presented by secretaries of the two chambers exchanging "writings." W. C. Jerome, president of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce, will read the "effusion" of the secretary at Orlando, and L. G. Barr, a nephew of O. H. Barr of this city, who also is a lumber merchant, will read what George Raymer prepared for the edification of the Orlandoans.

O. H. Barr, who visited with his brother, H. W. Barr, at Orlando, and Carl Leonard, of Anaheim, who passed three weeks at Orlando recently, will deliver short talks on that city, and on the Florida county of Orange.

To finish the picture, it may be said that Morrow, who is district manager here for the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph company, formerly resided at Orlando; and that Victor T. Powe, president of the Orlando Rotary club, is district manager there for the Southern Bell Telephone company.

PLAN TO FINANCE POULTRY CONTEST

Action was taken at the meeting of the poultry department of the Farm bureau of the seven southern counties, held at Pomona, looking to the permanent financing of the annual egg laying contest, and establishment of an experimental station. It also was shown that there are many problems affecting producers throughout the state and that a statewide organization would be advantageous.

The state farm bureau federation has practically agreed to form a special department. It was announced, which the organization endorsed. W. C. Childers, president of the group; R. D. Flaherty, secretary, and H. C. Rehnau, of Costa Mesa, were Orange county representatives at the meeting.

SEAL BEACH, March 3.—Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Benno and Mrs. Almee Templeton motored to Palm Springs and dined at the Hotel El Mirador Thursday. In the afternoon they visited Indio and the Salton sea.

Harry Lord, employee of the Los Angeles Gas & Electric corporation power plant here, who was seriously burned when a steam line broke two weeks ago, will return home from the hospital Tuesday.

Mr. Lord is recovering nicely.

The Parent-Teacher association will meet at the grammar school Tuesday afternoon. A program commemorating Founders' day will be presented.

Members of the election board selected to serve at the Seal Beach grammar school and Huntington Beach union high school trustees election March 28 include R. E. Swain, Mrs. Mary Washburn and Mrs. Merle Armstrong.

No nominations for candidacy for trustees of the grammar school have been filed to date. Frank L. Wilson, who will complete his second term on the board, has declined to run again. Holdover members are Mrs. D. D. Lawhead and Vernon Armstrong.

National Scout Leader To Visit

Boy Scouts of the county were interested in the announcement today by George Walker, Boy Scout executive, that James E. West, chief Scout executive of the United States, would attend the regional Scout meeting to be held in Pasadena, on March 22.

Following out that a real western welcome is being planned for the chief executive, Walker said that he anticipated attendance by a large number of Orange county Scouts and Scout leaders. He said there would be discussion of timely topics.

FACTORIES OF SANTA ANA TO EXHIBIT WARES

More than 30 local manufacturing concerns will arrange displays on the east porch and in the lobby of St. Ann's inn as a feature of the annual home products dinner of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce, to be held at the inn, Friday, at 6:30 p. m., according to announcement today by George Raymer, secretary.

The exhibits will be maintained through Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

Recalling that at past annual home products dinners more persons have attended than could be accommodated conveniently, by the facilities at the hostelry, Raymer said today that reservations Friday night would be limited to 400. The reservations will be numbered as received and when 400 have been made the list will be closed, Raymer said.

Manufacturers and producers in this vicinity are evidencing the same interest as in the past and the dinner menu will embrace every kind of food grown and manufactured here.

The secretary said that an excellent program is being arranged and that there will be two addresses of keen interest to boosters of the community.

Professor Herbert E. Harris, of Whittier college, will discuss "Team Work," and Edward C. Thomas, of the publicity department of the Pacific and Electric and Southern Pacific railway companies, will present a talk on "Commerce Progress."

DELEGATES GO TO NEWSPAPER DAY CONCLAVE

Six delegates from the Santa Ana High school and Junior college attended the eighth annual Newspaper day at the University of Southern California on Saturday.

The high school publication, The Generator, failed to win a prize, the awards going to Hollywood for the best paper, Riverside for the best with schools over 1000 enrollment, and Santa Maria for schools under 1000. Last year The Generator won a bronze plaque for the best paper in its class. The Don, Junior college publication, was not entered, as no college contest was held.

In the morning sessions, addresses were given by Charles Dillon, editor of "Transportation" on "Business Journalism;" J. C. Saffley, city editor of the Hollywood News, and author of "The Country Newspaper," speaking on "The Country Newspaper;" and A. W. McBride, publisher of the La Habra Star, talking on "How to Get the News."

After a tour of the campus, the 300 high school and junior college delegates were guests at a luncheon in the Students' union social hall. Talks were given by Rufus B. von KleinSmid, president of the university; Dr. Owen C. Coy, U. S. C. history professor; Ford A. Chatters, president of the California Newspaper Publishers' association; and Roy L. French, head of the journalism department of the university.

In the afternoon, conferences and discussion groups were held for the various departments of the papers.

Those who attended from Santa Ana were Richard Robbins, editor-in-chief of The Generator; Roger Drake, news editor; Virginia Bishop, feature editor; John "Sky" Dunlap, editor-in-chief of The Don; Nellie Sackett, news editor; and Edgar M. Flowers, faculty advisor of both papers.

The parts were taken perfectly by Mary Arnett, "Enid," the Cinderella of the play; Hazel Hell and Emmetta Hart, the "Hawk sisters;" Catherine and Caroline; Hatty Edward, "Mammy Judy Johnson;" Thelma Condit, "Madam Charlaris," the grandmother; Evelyn Lindstrom, "Rose Winterbury;" Maxine Terry, "Jonnie Belle Randolph."

The auditorium was crowded to capacity and the sum of $65 was taken in at the door as admittance fees. Home-made candy was sold between acts by the eighth grade members.

Announcement is made that the play, "Mix and Stir Well," which is to be presented by the Westminster Parent-Teacher association, will be given March 17 in the school auditorium.

An operetta is being prepared for production by the Westminster school to be given some time in March, the date yet to be announced. Mrs. Glenn Smith, Mrs. Maple Taylor and Mrs. Elma Reddick of the faculty are in charge of the operetta.

Merrill Crane and Frances Hurd are pupils of the local school who are absent on account of having chickenpox.

Mrs. Green, wife of the local business man, victim of an attempted attack last Monday by a local Mexican, is still in her home from nervous breakdown as a result.

The funeral of Mrs. Mary Anderson Tilton, pioneer Westminster resident, whose death occurred Friday morning in a Los Angeles hospital, was held today from the Johnson Funeral chapel. Interment followed in Fairhaven cemetery in Santa Ana.

Needless Suffering

Don't let a headache make you suffer in pain. Get relief with Bayer Aspirin. Remember Bayer Aspirin! There is scarcely any pain it cannot relieve, and relieve promptly.

These tablets give real relief, or millions would not continue to take them. They are quite harmless, or the medical profession would not constantly prescribe them.

Don't be a martyr to unnecessary pain. To colds that might so easily be checked; to neuritis, neuralgia; to those pains peculiar to women; or any suffering for which Bayer Aspirin is such an effective antidote.

For your own protection, buy the genuine. Bayer is safe. It's always the same. It never depresses the heart, so use it as often as needed; but the cause of any pain can be treated only by a doctor.

Four Fashions for Spring

Styles of early March point the way towards an interesting Easter of color and elegance

I. Henri Bendel uses pleated ruffles to form a cape sleeve on this afternoon frock of printed blue.

II. taffeta-bound petals of ivory net fashion a full skirt on this youthful evening gown.

all costumes from Henri Bendel with shoes from Delman, New York

III. Lucile Paray combines crepe marocaine in goldenrod yellow and white in this suit which is worn with a tan felt hat by Bendel and beige kid shoes.

COSTUMES for spring, with that "new feeling," elaborate their bodices, accept the long-lined effect, and insist on all accessories reflecting their elegance. Everything a woman wears this spring will have softness and charming details that carry a note of youth.

There is increased feeling for wrapped treatments, with curved pleats, bandings and tucks suggesting these.

For first spring days, plain colors will be best. But just as surely as flowers will bloom when spring finally comes, so surely will fine little prints appear in later spring frocks.

PRINTS, however, are finer, rather more svelt in their design, and dainty. The bold, bizarre print is last year's frock now. Fine worsteds lead in the first costumes for spring, and many is the coat, frock and jacket that uses the cape theme for its chief style feature.

Soft dressmaker coats, suits and frocks are the best possible choice to make if you are buying your spring clothes early. There is to be a great difference in length of coats, and the jacket frock often takes its jacket half way between the accepted seven-eighths ensemble length and the hiplength tailor's jacket.

A WOMAN'S own good taste and her figure are the best guides to coat lengths. Since practically any length is good, the cut of the frock or skirt under the coat, the height of the woman wearing it, the occasion, and the material and kind of suit are the only considerations.

Ensembles favor odd lengths, remember that. From boleros to entire length, they run the gamut. The separate coat or jacket is usually more elaborately cut than one that is merely part of a costume. Draperies are better than ever. Cape sleeves are perhaps the second choice.

It is, withal, a spring of irregularity and elegance. Since elegance satisfies the aesthetic sense and the irregularity is tremendously stimulating to the imagination, spring promises to be a most exciting season in styles.

I. FOR a simple little daytime frock Henri Bendel uses a dainty pale blue crepe printed in a leaf design in white, yellow and black. The skirt has two godets to give it a fitted body line with fullness well below the hips, and a novel ruffled effect, edged in net, gives the cape sleeves effect.

A belt of the printed material, lined with white ribbon, girdles the figure at the waistline. Since this is a costume for a slender miss, the belt ties in knots, with ends on each side. The length is indicative of the added two to three inches that all simple daytime things have this year.

With this a pair of printed crepe shoes in the same color are applied in blue and white kid. The hat is a pink neora straw, with a blue and white grosgrain banding.

II. WHITE is having an unusual vogue this season for evening. For a young girl, a white taffeta and pale ivory net are used in charming combination. The bodice is very simple and the taffeta-bound petals fashion an exaggeratedly full skirt that sweeps the floor all around, giving a demure air to its wearer that heightens the almost irresistible appeal of youth.

There is an elaborate flower arrangement at one side, placed very casually, yet exquisitely done. The slippers chosen for this frock have a bit of magic in their white brocade with silver and gold applique. The very delicate gold and silver ankle strap and diminutive crystal buckles secure them snugly to dancing feet.

III. FOR travel, for smart shopping, luncheon or chic office wear, Bendel shows an import from Lucile Paray that illustrates the style in the new silk suits for spring.

This is a crepe marocaine, in goldenrod yellow and white. A bolero effect is achieved by a manipulation of folds on the bodice of the dress. The waistline follows the gentle curve of these folds. Fullness is introduced in the skirt by a panel of pleats both front and back. The coat is three-quarter length and has the same bias folds trimming it, giving its back section the bolero effect the frock shows.

This is topped by a smart tan felt hat. A good choice in shoes is a walking strap-oxford in beige kidskin trimmed in dark brown calf.

IV. FOR a very youthful effect, there is a gray chiffon tweed coat with a high waistline and cape back that ends in the sleeves.

Fine hand tucks belt this coat, which has the new hemline that comes up slightly in the front. The collar is soft and casual and very graceful and becoming. At its closing there is a little posy made of the chiffon tweed. A Deschat natural baku hat tops it, and the shoes chosen are a pair of pale gray buckskin and black calfskin pumps, with leather heel.

The spring clothes are giving every woman an opportunity to choose styles, colors, and materials that are best adapted to her individual type of beauty. Women have ceased to masquerade as imitations of a peculiar type of fashion goddess, and are making their spring debut as interesting individuals.

IV. a high waistline is fitted to the form with tucks in this coat of gray chiffon tweed. The hat is a Deschat creation of natural baku, and the pumps are of gray buckskin and black calf.

Seattle Club Begins Training

BIG CHIEFS AT SAN CLEMENTE ARE OPTIMISTIC

SAN CLEMENTE, March 4.—Big Chief "Bald Bill" Klepper, Little Chief Ernie Johnson and a whole tribe of minor Seattle Indians put on the war paint here today for the first workout preparatory to the Big War which starts April 6.

Chief Klepper is an optimistic over the coming campaign as the German generals in 1914. "Little Chief" Johnson says nothing while the camp followers as always, are skeptical. But was was always thus.

Behind the bat is Pat Collins, stocky catcher with Yankee background. In the infield is Little Chief Johnson and in the outfield Hitt "em from County to County Barbee, Louie Almada and others.

On these Weppler hopes to get out of the cellar by July. In fact he has hopes of never sinking to the baseball sump. His club will not fight along the battle line all summer in the dugout, he says.

The players arrived here yesterday. The entire squad was due today but some will no doubt be AWOL for a few days. And in the squad, all signed, says Klepper, you see but 29 names. This makes the smallest training outfit in Seattle history which is hard on the Spanish Village restaurant man for all everyone knows ball players are great eaters when the club is paying for it.

Try Hands at Golf

Many of the boys opened the season on the newly opened San Clemente links. Little Chief Johnson, Reuther, Kunz, Taylor and Barbee have been chasing a little ball around this picturesque course for several days. Ernie shook his head when he saw the pep of the gang on the first tee. It's possible that the manager will limit the golfing activities of his tribe to the first three days of the week.

A new hurler arrived late in the afternoon. Bill Klepper did not know he had him on the roll but Ernie Johnson happened to remember that link had signed him. The player is Paul Miller from Ventura, a hurler with ambitions. He makes the third rookie on the squad, the other two being Dutcher, a pitcher from the bay region of California and Norton, a flyhawk from the wilds of the

S. A. Trackmen Clash In Class Contest

Weather permitting, Santa Ana high school tracksters were to hold their annual interclass meet on Poly field today. Seniors were slightly favored to win although juniors were conceded a chance and the sophomores were counted on to make a much better showing than usual.

Coach "Tex" Oliver will take his athletes to Long Beach Thursday for another Coast Preparatory league dual meet. The Saints lost to Pasadena last week because their victorious relay team was disqualified for irregular passing of the baton.

BOXING ARENA DARK TUESDAY. OPEN THURSDAY

With Thursday definitely decided on as the Orange County Athletic club's future "Fite Nite," Promoter-Matchmaker Henry T. Foust today completed arrangements for his first Thursday card, scheduled for the Delhi road arena this week.

The arena will be dark tomorrow night. The impresario has booked a double main event, with both features going six rounds, a semi-wind-up of the same distance, and three four-round preliminaries.

Foust believes the extra flourish will bring a lot of additional fans scurrying through the turnstiles. Drewry Willis and Billy Clark, well-known welterweights, are listed for one-half of the double main event. Joe Goeters and Paul Duarte, middleweights, will collide in the other part.

Willis recently gave Zenaydo Chavez two hard battles at the county arena, losing both but giving the hard-hitting Santa Ana a lot of trouble. Clark has never lost in this section and his victims include a number of ranking welterweights.

Goeters established himself as a real fighting man when he stopped Ray Regalado two weeks ago. Duarte is said to be something yet again, a bigger and better man in almost every respect.

Notable in the layout of preliminary bouts is the curtain-raiser, which matches Fred Coffman, Santa Ana lad, with Sid Fiorucci, Los Angeles. Coffman was a great fighter among the amateurs whom he abandoned a few weeks ago. This will be his first pro engagement.

Women fans will be admitted free again.

LONG BEACH JAYCEE GOLFPERS DEFEAT DONS, 4-1

Golfers of Long Beach Junior college continued their victory streak Saturday over the greens and fairways of the Santa Ana Country club by defeating Santa Ana Junior college, 4-1.

RUTH, HOLDOUT YET. JOINS IN YANK TRAINING

BY FRANK GETTY (United Press Sports Editor)

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 3.—Babe Ruth will join the New York Yankees at the opening of spring practice today and will be in right field when the regular season opens with all his salary troubles forgiven and forgotten.

While he still maintains his stand as the most prominent holdout of many baseball seasons, the home run king told the United Press he was confident all the difficulties concerning his 1930 contract would be straightened out long before April 16.

"I like the game too much to leave it," the Babe said. "It is a matter of business for me to get what I am worth to the Yankees, but I've given my best to the game and to my present ball club and I feel I will be with them when the season starts."

Looking fit from his life in the open, during which he was devoted most of his time to golf and swimming, Ruth said he would report to his new chief, Bob Shawkey, and take part in the regular training practice.

In discussing his salary and his insistence on $85,000 a year, the famous slugger gave no indication that he would accept a compromise proposition, beyond saying that "some people seem to think a lot more about money than I do."

Ruth said he had no idea when he would meet Colonel Ruppert for a final showdown on his new contract.

"The next move is strictly up to Ruppert and Ruppert," he pointed out. "They sent me a contract which did not call for the money I am asking, and I've sent it back. It's up to them to take the next step. I've always found Jake to be fair, and I'm sure he will be this time."

The ever brilliant "Red" Thierly led the Farmers in scoring although he was pressed closely by Holmes. Tustin's first Southern California playoff rival will be selected

FARMERS BEAT ORANGE. 19-9. TO NAB SERIES

They're looking at the world through rose-colored glasses in Tustin today—and everything is rosy now! Tustin high school's sensational little basketball team, undisputed champion of the Orange league at last, was preparing to enter the playoffs for the Southern California title at Whittier next Saturday night.

Coach "Big Bill" Cole's quintet won its division streamer last Saturday night by defeating Orange, 19 to 9, in the third and deciding contest of a two-out-of-three series between the clubs that ranked one-two at the end of the regular conference season.

The Farmer's victory, scored at Orange before a gymnasium full of frenzied fans, was won by the comparatively simple process of resorting to the same short passing attack that gave the team success throughout the early part of the schedule.

Forget Long Shots

In the first two games with the Orangenmen, the Farmers relied almost entirely on a long-shot game and while they won the first one, 17-15, and almost took the second which went to Orange, 24-22, critics said the Farmers were not playing up to their possibilities. Coach Cole himself agreed with this opinion.

The Farmers were "right" Saturday, however. Forwards Thierly, Cook and Sencord, and later Cochran and Crafts instead of Cook, passed the ball so rapidly and accurately that they broke through Orange's defense for short shots on many occasions.

Bill Cole with the spectacular guarding of Harry Holmes and Don Johnson, found Orange in distress in every period and able to complete only three baskets from the court.

Tustin had command of the situation all the way. Cole's cagers led at the end of the first quarter, 4 to 0; at the half, 12 to 5; at the end of the third quarter, 16 to 9, and at the end of the game, 19 to 9. Orange was unable to make a point in the first and fourth periods and was outplayed in both of the other quarters too.

Cook Starts for Farmers

Cole sprung a surprise by starting Jack Cook at forward in place of "Spud" Cochran who was the star of the Friday tussle. Cook played a whole of a game for the first quarter at the end of which he gave way to Cochran who worked until the beginning of the last period, Smith taking his place at this juncture.

Clarence Pargee, the forward Orange drafted from its Class B quintet in time to beat Tustin Friday, started at forward for the Orangenmen but was held scoreless by Holmes and Johnson, whose strong floor play easily featured the final match of the series. Struck, Pargee's substitute, was the only Orange player who gave Tustin any trouble and he was limited to four points.

The ever brilliant "Red" Thierly led the Farmers in scoring although he was pressed closely by Holmes. Tustin's first Southern California playoff rival will be selected

BRITISH THINK SCOTT JOBBED: PRESS HOSTILE

By DAVIS J. WALSH (I. N. S. Sports Editor)

NEW YORK, March 3.—In spite of anything the Muldoon-Tunney committee might wish to do about it, it is almost inevitable now that there will be no world-wide acceptance of any man as heavyweight champion this year and perhaps for several years to come.

Shawkey and Schmeling, the local survivors, will have their prize fight in June and the committee will issue a profound manifesto, admitting that the winner is the champion of all the world—and, unfortunately, it now is doubtful whether all the world will believe it. This is Phil Scott's legacy to American boxing.

After what happened at Miami, Fla., last Thursday night, it is practically a foregone conclusion that England won't abide by any arrangement for the future that does not include Scott.

England Thinks Phil Jobbed

That country has been convinced by its half dozen correspondents at the ringside that Phil was robbed, jobbed, hoaxed and cheated, when his claim of foul went unrecognized, and it hasn't hesitated to say so.

It is natural to expect, therefore, that England will accept neither the man who beat Scott in this controversial fight nor the man who might beat the man who beat Scott.

England, inspired by its correspondents, has assumed too much, of course. I don't know of any American boxing writer who isn't capable of deciding a point of this kind strictly on its merits, so that when 90 per cent of the ringside rows decide that a certain thing has happened, it is fair to presume that there is a good chance it did happen. It is Referee Magnolia himself who is responsible for what weakness there may be in the American position.

Everybody now admits that Magnolia should have called them as he saw them in the third round, instead of giving Scott a minute's rest.

Magnolia Responsible

If the latter was entitled to this strictly unofficial "breather" in the middle of a round, he was entitled, per se and by the same token, to win the fight as promptly as the referee could raise his hand. If he wasn't entitled to this unorthodox period of recovery, he should have been counted out. Failure to do one thing or the other stamped Magnolia as a man who may have made the right decision but took the wrong way of arriving at it.

So Magnolia comes back to New York with the rather dubious distinction of having stage-managed his verdict somewhat awkwardly and Shawkey goes forward to the Schmeling fight without England's tolerance. Come to think of it, the British probably won't sanction

BRIEFS FROM THE TRAINING CAMPS

AVALON, Calif., March 3.—Fearing possible injury to one of his high priced pitching arms, Joe McCarthy, manager of the championship Chicago Cubs today ordered his hurlers "to ease up a bit."

McCarthy's instruction bulletin reminded his pitching staff that the season does not open until April 15. In addition to G. Arthur, the names of Willie Kamm, Smokey Jolly, Carl Reynolds, Dave Harris and Alex Metzler appear on the tardy roster.

ORLANDO, Fla., March 3.—The Cincinnati Reds will start training camp today.

Eight athletes who were already on hand were augmented yesterday by a group of old reliables.

Don Dowley, Manager, will put them through a series of limbering up exercises to get the kinks out.

PENSACOLA, Fla., March 3.—Freezing weather kept the Red Sox inside yesterday and with that came the announcement of the signing of Lamar Alton, 18-year-old Miami boy, pitcher as well as an outfielder.

Pitcher John Oetkin, Louisville, Ky., had his "walking ticket" today, releases coming early this year.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 3.—Heldouts and two men on the sick list, was the standing of the Braves' squad today.

The holdouts are Dave Robertson, formerly of the Yankees, and Nolan, Richborough, outfielder, and Nolan, a rookie. Bill Dunlap, who was on-erated on Saturday for appendicitis, was rapidly recovering. "Red" Hollins, formerly of the Red Sox, is ill with a heavy cold.

BRADENTOWN, Fla., March 3.—The St. Louis Cardinals were scheduled to hold their first spring training camp practice here today. Thirteen players left St. Louis Saturday night for this city.

WINTER HAVEN, Fla., March 3.—The Phillies have so many promising rookies in camp today that they are having great difficulty in deciding on the make-up of his team.

Young Jack Sherlock, Pacific Coast league graduate, is showing so much stuff that he may get the first base job instead of Don Hurst.

SAN ANTONIO, March 3.—Ed Roush, Giant outfielder, is not working much because the Giants signed Johnny Mostel, former White Sox star. He wired Manager John McGraw today from Indiana that he would not report for training until March 12.

CLEARWATER, Fla., March 3.—Glenn Wright, Gordon Slade and Jack Warner will diverge in practice today as they fight for the shortest berth on the Brooklyn Robins. If Wright's arm continues to hold out, he is figured to be Manager Robinson's choice for the job.

ST. PETERSBURG, March 3.—Remember the name—American Pol-York Yankee's camp today as they entered the second week of spring training and Pol-Y, a youngster obtained from the St. Paul club of the American association, stood at the head of the class of hopefuls. Manager Shawkey was said to be much impressed with the little Italian-American.

AGGIES' REQUEST GRANTED

Members of the Missouri Valley conference granted Oklahoma A. M. College permission to prolong their spring football practice this season because practically every team that the Aggies will engage next fall has unlimited practice privileges.

DEMPESEY TELLS CONDITIONS OF FISTIC RETURN

CLEVELAND, O., March 3.—Jack Dempsey, 34, suffering from a sudden seige of neuritis, announced here today that he will return to the prize ring if Max Schmeling of Germany or Primo Carnera, the gigantic Venetian, defeats the best of America's current crop of heavyweights.

If Jack Sharkey, the loquacious Boston sailor and recognized heir apparent to Gene Tunney's abdicated championship, turns back the foreign invasion, Dempsey will retire officially and permanently.

Candidly, the old Manassa Mauler does not believe he will fight again. It is his opinion that Johnny Risko of Cleveland, Gerald Ambrose (Tuffy) Griffiths or Sharkey can whip all of the foreign pretenders to the heavyweight crown.

Dempsey weighs 210 pounds. His ringside weight formerly was around 195 pounds. His eyes are clear and his step light.

"Sharkey and Schmeling should have fought for the heavyweight

HOOKS and SLIDES

by William Braucher

BIG DOINGS JUST AHEAD

Spring has started her northward march along the banks of the Mississippi. Bobby Jones took out his clubs the other day after a winter of idleness, shot an 80, then got serious and shot a 63, then got very, very hot and went to Savannah and turned Calamity Jane loose on the lads.

The hosts of big league baseball have gone south to greet the sun on its return trip. The crash of ball and bat and that resounding "plunk" as the leather sinks into the catchers' mitts, is one of the harbingers of box scores to come.

Big golf doings are still ahead in the south after which the Walker cup crowd will depart for the battles at Sandwich. It will be only a few weeks now until the mayor throws out the first ball and the teams start on the long grind. Lovely days are coming.

HERE COMES MAX

Early summer will bring important tussles among the heavyweights. The Hurlful Hamburger, Mr. Max Schmeling, will be trying to take unto himself a world championship June 26 in New York. Maybe everything is going to be all right after all.

Soon the Notre Dame team will be taking its regular spring dose of bruises under Mr. Rockne's direction. There will be blocking and tackling and plenty of running, passing and kicking. Knute almost completely recovered his health down at Miami Beach. This year he is going to let the seniors show the rookies how to block and tackle. He used to get out there and do it himself.

TENNIS AND POLO

It will be no time at all until the tennis people are out punting the ball and taking off the pounds. This year there are big doings in tennis to look forward to than ever before, with an open tournament in the card for the late summer. The chance of seeing Karel Kozeluh, the Sizzling Czech, in action against the simon-pures at last seems about to be realized.

Besides the international fight angle and the international tennis angle, there will be an international polo angle, in case you are interested. The British are coming over to whack the ball about a bit in an effort to life the championship from America. They will be lucky, according to the consensus of expert opinion, if they do not fall off their horses.

ABOUT TO TEE UP

Most important of all, however, is the fact that Gus H. Muggs, who put his clubs away forever last October after taking a 112, is beginning to prow the house with a queer look on his face. Somebody told him the other day that the new and larger golf ball is a pipe to hit. He'll be in there again any day now, trying to keep out of the sand and water.

Just another of the "hounds of spring." It's on the way.

DID YOU KNOW THAT

Tom Turner, president of the Portland club of the Pacific Coast league, is a swell practical joker.

He announced recently he had bought the Boston Red Sox.

The wires carried the story and pictures of Thomas were sent around.

Now he says "the press boys were begging for a story and I treated 'em."

We may be wrong, but we don't think Tom's idea of a story is so very wonderful.

Chick Hafey, bespectacled Card outfielder, has been keeping his arm in trim this winter throwing snowballs.

Out in the California mountains.

Chick wears glasses now on and off the field.

"Chick" drove from St. Louis to Berkeley, Cal., in four days.

It's a mere 2285 miles.

There are some fifty double-play combinations in the National league, with Duercher and Critz at Cincinnati; English and Hornsby at Chicago; Thevenow and Thompson of the Phils. and Gelbert and Frisch at St. Louis.

Arlett Holds Out For $1000 Month

FRESNO, March 3.—"Buz" Arlett, fence-busting ace of the Oakland outfield, today was still singing the lead in the holdouts' quintet as performed by some of Carl Zamocho's choice ball players.

Arlett seeks a monthly stipend of $1000. The other four holdouts are John Fenton, Ernie Lombardi, Pete Daglia and Jim Edwards.

"I've kept in fine condition and continued light training. In two or three months I will go into more strenuous training at my place at Ensenada, Mex. with Jerry Luvadis, my trainer."

"My return to the ring, of course, is contingent on developments. If Schmeling whips Sharkey, and I don't think he will, then I'll come back to take on Schmeling and try to win the title back for the United States," Dempsey said.

Herman, Kayoed, Reported Better

BUENOS AIRES, March 3.—Babe Herman, American middleweight veteran, was said to be out of danger today following his knockout in a bout with Justo Suarez, Argentine champion, Saturday night.

Walk Mile To Eat
The tribesmen have to walk a mile and a half to the restaurant at which they sign checks. Traveling in a cafe. This has brought growls but Klepper points to some clubs in Florida that make their players walk four miles to food. About the only thing you can drive a ball player to is drink and food. Johnson hopes the six walks a day, three up and three back will help get his players in shape. Kunz lives up town in an apartment with his family and how that car of his will be filled with players at noon time. Klepper will live up town. You can't get Bill too far away from the table. The scribes also live up town as does Ruether and one of two other veterans.

Mayor Thomas F. Burphine and Ole Hanson, founder and builder of the Spanish Village, former mayor of Seattle and an old-time ball fan, greeted the team in its first workout this morning.

GAS COMPANY PLANS LARGE DEVELOPMENT

The Southern Counties Gas company is programming the expenditure here this summer of approximately $150,000 in property and equipment for increasing the efficiency of its service in this vicinity, it became known here today.

Having completed purchase from Mrs. Emma L. French of all but two lots in the block bounded by Walnut, Pine, Cedar and Evergreen streets, the block immediately west of the company's plant at East First street, the company has directed preparation of plans for two gas tanks of 1,000,000 cubic feet each, to be installed on the property.

According to C. E. Rutledge, district manager here, it is planned to have the improvement program completed in time for use next winter. Placing in service of the two containers will eliminate every element of risk of possible shortage in the fuel supply at the time of peak demand in the winter months. It was pointed out. Addition of the two tanks will increase the storage capacity here by 200 per cent, the district manager said.

Oil Curtailment In Force At Huntington Beach

OPERATORS TO MAKE REPORTS ON PRODUCTION

HUNTINGTON BEACH, March 3.—Oil curtailment began in this city Saturday, when 128 wells were shut in. The conservation committee will meet today with Neil Anderson, oil umpire, to hear a report as to how Huntington Beach cut its production 35.82 per cent. Unofficial reports are to the effect that Standard Oil shut down 52 wells, Associated Oil, 28 wells, Shell, 17 wells, and Union Oil, 21 wells. Smaller companies pinched in production. Superior Oil cut production 40 per cent on all its wells.

On the whole the cut here was effective and fully met the expectations of Umpire Neil Anderson. It is reported, whether or not the cut will reduce the force of employees in the field is not announced, but it is thought that a very few men will be thrown out of work. The wells shut down were mostly small wells and as a rule one pump looks after several wells, so a few cut off around the field may not mean a great reduction in the force of employees.

The independent operators in the field declare that the cut will not have any apparent effect on the conditions in the oil industry. Reuben Kiesau, independent operator, stated today he felt the refusal to cut a tariff on oil meant the collapse of the oil industry.

F. E. Bondy, independent producer said at the conservation meeting here last week that there were no good effects that could come from cutting down production as long as new wells were being drilled and new fields being opened up.

ARRANGE FUNERAL OF ANAHEIM MAN

ANAHEIM, March 3.—Funeral arrangements for one of Anaheim's prominent citizens, Major William D. DeSombre, 63, have been set for 2:30 p. m., Tuesday, from the Backs Terry and Campbell funeral home.

Major DeSombre succumbed to a heart attack at his ranch home on East street Monday morning. He had lived with his wife since 1914.

The deceased was a veteran of both the Spanish-American and World wars, serving overseas in the late war and earning the rank of major. He returned from service in 1920 and had taught mathematics at the Fremont intermediate grammar school for the past six years, teaching his classes Friday without any noticeable ill health. He held the degree of bachelor of philosophy from the University of Chicago from which institution he was graduated in 1901.

Major DeSombre for several years served as director of the Anaheim Co-Operative Orange association, retiring from this service this year. At the time of his death he retained his membership in the William of Wykeham lodge, F. and A. M., which membership he obtained while in England.

Mourning his departure are his widow, Mrs. Nova Lee DeSombre; two brothers, H. G. and Dr. Karl, both of Fontana, Wis.; two sisters, Miss Minnie DeSombre, of Fontana, and Mrs. H. B. DeGroot, of Chicago.

Board Will Open Bids Tuesday On 17th Street Work

Proceedings for the widening of West Seventeenth street, from Huntington Beach boulevard to the Los Alamitos road, will be furnished tomorrow when the county board of supervisors is to open bids for the work.

The road, which is now 18 feet wide, will be made 30 feet in width, under the plans and specifications for the project, over a distance of four and a half miles. Some 15 sets of plans and specifications have been given to interested contractors. It was revealed today in the office of Nat. Noff, county superintendent of highways, that the cost of the project is $93,000, but do not include allowances for cement, which is to be furnished by the county. This will make the cost of the project run to $100,000, it is said. The road is part of a project for a new highway into Long Beach.

Their preliminary examination was set for March 6 and bail of $5000 each demanded.

The two men were arrested in Los Angeles by Los Angeles officers, who want them on a similar charge, but were released to officers here when it was learned that the evidence against them here was stronger, it was reported.

PRELIMINARY WORK UNDER WAY ON NEWPORT BAY ISLE; DREDGING TO START SOON

NEWPORT BEACH, March 3.—The Griffith company, successful bidder for the Lido isle improvement project, declared to be the largest of its kind in the history of California, is speeding up the preliminary work.

A 35-foot road has been built from Newport boulevard to the island and a temporary road encircling the island has been finished. The sewer on the mainland part of the property is almost laid and material is being distributed for the sewer system on the island itself.

Part of the project includes a bridge from the mainland to the west end of the island and the sub-contractors for this bridge, Oldberg brothers, have more than 50 men working on the job. They expect to have 125 men in addition to the bridge, the $1,170,000 job includes connections for water, sewers, lights, phones and gas—all except the ornamental light standards being under ground—also streets, curbs and walks.

Water and sewer connections have been completed on the Frick tract on Balboa peninsula and work is about to start on the curbs and paving. Ornamental lights are to follow. This improvement is costing $38,000. It will result in placing the last available Balboa peninsula lots on the market.

Work is expected to be dumped this week for Groin No. 2 at the harbor entrance, the temporary railway track having been laid from the end of the P. E. tracks in Balboa. While this is going on, preparations are also under way for the Standard Dredging company to begin dredging the entrance channel to a depth of 15 feet at low tide and a width of 250 feet, also for the Federal government to remove the derelict Muriel from the entrance.

Rock has also been started on the Reek tidal land project, on the mainland north of Balboa island. Dredging in connection with this job is among the several private dredging projects planned for the bay this spring. Others are around Bay island and west of Lido isle.

QUICK RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION

That is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards produced Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 20 years, and calomel's old-time enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients for chronic constipation and torpid livers.

Olive Tablets do not constipate, just a healing, soothing vegetable laxative safe and pleasant.

No gripping is the "keynote" of these little sugar-coated, olive-colored tablets. They help cause the bowels and liver to act normally. They never force brown to unnatural action.

If you have a "dark brown mouth"—bad breath—a dull, tired feeling—sick headache—torpid liver—constipation, you should find quick, sure and pleasant results from one or two of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets.

Thousands take them every night to keep right. Try them. 15c, 30c, 60c.—Adv.

Wise Mother

Here are James and Terence, husky young sons of Mrs. M. Murphy, 4925 East 58th Place, Los Angeles, Calif. Their mother's experience shows what can be done to keep children robust. She says: "Since I found out how good California Fig Syrup is, I have kept some in the house. It always helps my boys. I give it for upsetts or colds."

When your child's breath is bad; tongue is coated; or he is head-achy, bilious, feverish, without appetite or energy, give him a little California Fig Syrup. See how its gentle cleansing helps a child. Appetite, digestion and assimilation improve. Stomach and bowels are toned and strengthened.

The genuine always bears the word California. So look for that when buying. Seven million bottles used a year proves its merit.—Rev.

Addresses Heard Yesterday In Santa Ana Churches

OBLIGATION TO OBEY LAW TOLD BY DR. BRIGGS

Dr. A. H. Briggs, state superintendent of the California Anti-Saloon league, addressed the congregation of the First Methodist church, of which Dr. George A. Warner is pastor, on the theme, "Personal and Local Responsibility." Dr. Briggs said in part:

"Prohibition is triumphant. On January 16, 1919, the beverage liquor traffic stepped out from the sanction of law and the protection of government, and became an outcast, a fugitive from justice. While, during the 10 years of prohibition, we have had in the White House good men, whose attitude toward prohibition has been correct but hardly could be called dynamic, we have in the White House today a competent friend of prohibition with the firm will to enforce the law.

"But in its very triumph, prohibition is finding its supreme trial. Victory is never complete until the enemy, however beaten, lays down his arms in unconditional surrender; and the liquor traffic has never yet surrendered. The battered fragments of the American liquor traffic, reinforced by all the wealth and all the influence of the liquor traffic of the world, is on American soil defying the law and government of the United States.

"Mr. Hoover has set his face as a flint to make good the promise of the platform on which he was elected. He has counted the cost, he is willing to pay the price, he has lost the politicians, if he ever had them. But he believes that the people are with him and are praying for him.

"In this situation, what is the duty of an American citizen? "The basic thing for which Mr. Hoover is pleading is the recovery of America's lost respect for law. The American Bar association traced the so-called crime wave back to 1881, before prohibition was a vital issue. In its report it says that crime in this country is due to "the apathy and indifference of the American people toward law." Shout that in Chicago. Proclaim it in every great city of the land. Crime in America is due to the apathy and indifference of the American people.

"The clear duty of each American citizen is to recover his lost respect for law. Have I lost my respect for law? Let us see. There are 23,000,000 automobiles in America, many of them guided by unskilled hands, running at high speed. But for good laws, our highways would be shambles. Ordinarily, I obey the law, but today I am in a hurry and I say to my boy in the back seat, 'Keep an eye out for the cop while I step on her.' What have I done? I have gained distance. Have I lost my boy? I have preached respect for law. Have I, by my act, taught my boy that his father respects the law when it is convenient, but disregards it when he pleases?

"Illustrations may be multiplied. The cheery 100 per cent American who stands when the Star Spangled Banner is played and who is deeply concerned about the reign of crime in America, permits a bootlegger to sneak around to his back door. By his patronage he is making crime rich and by his example he is making crime respectable. I do not believe that a man with a glass of liquid treason in his hand can say much to an American boy or an American girl about respect for law or regard for the Constitution. The right to work for the repeal of a law we

FIRST CHRISTIAN CHURCH

The First Christian church of Santa Ana was organized on June 5, 1881 with 21 men and women present at the first meeting, which was called for the purpose of forming a society here. The congregation built a mission church on Orange avenue two years ago and is planning to build a new educational unit soon.

ACTS OF MAN SHOW SPIRIT GIVEN TO GOD

In his sermon yesterday morning, at the Broadway and Walnut street Church of Christ, the minister, the Rev. James H. Sewell, basing his talk on the first verse of the twelfth chapter of Romans, said in part:

"In this chapter are some of the finest lessons to be found in this grand old book. If the man who is starting out earnestly in the Christian life, will read and heed the things set forth in this chapter, he will succeed. If he is not earnestly endeavoring to shape his life according to the will of the Lord, then, so far as he is concerned, Christ has died in vain.

"Paul here goes back to the Mosaic dispensation for an illustration, when people who sought the favor of God had to offer sacrifices of animals. He admonishes the Roman brethren, and through them admonishes us, that Christians should present their bodies as living sacrifices—not dead sacrifices—active, working, energetic. These sacrifices, he says, should be holy, pure, chaste, clean, to be acceptable unto God.

"Do you say as, Christianity is a spiritual matter, why not present our spirits to God as sacrifices, instead of our bodies, which are material? Because if the spirit is separated from the body, the body dies. If you separate the body from the spirit, the spirit dies. The only way we can demonstrate that our spirits have been consecrated to God is to show it by the actions of the body. The spirit must work through the body."

do not like—that is ours. But the right to violate a law we do not like, that is the right of no American citizen.

"One thing more. When the eighteenth amendment went into the Constitution 35,000,000 American boys and girls were in the realm of the unborn. Now they are here. To them, the eighteenth amendment is ancient history. They never saw a saloon. They do not know what it is all about.

"The eighteenth amendment went into the Constitution because a generation of boys and girls who were taught in the public schools the effect of alcohol on the human body came to voting age and put it there. What this generation started the next generation will finish it to the citizens of tomorrow is given the truth about beverage alcohol as forcefully as it was given to the citizens of today."

JESUS LIKENED TO PIONEER BY LOCAL PASTOR

"We are compelled to describe God in human terms," said the Rev. Perry Frederick Schrock, in his sermon on "The Pioneer of Life" at the First Congregational church yesterday morning. "We are compelled to use human terms," continued Mr. Schrock, "because they are the only terms we have. An anti-religious writer accuses religious people of making their own deity because they describe him in the terms of their human vocabulary. We do the same with a sunset. No one has yet accused us of creating the sunset."

"We describe Jesus also by the use of human words. We call him Master, Teacher, Lord, Savior, Friend, Elder Brother—all of them very human words. Peter, according to Moffatt's translation, applied another very suggestive name to Jesus. He called Him the Pioneer of Life. The older versions translate the same Greek word, Prince. At that time it was the best translation. The Greek word means, 'One who takes the lead in anything,' or 'A predecessor.' In the time of King James a prince was the one who usually took the lead in any undertaking. But today we speak of a predecessor, one who took the lead, as a pioneer. We think of Booker Washington as a pioneer for the young people of his race. Cushing Eells, who established many churches and two colleges in the northwest, was a great pioneer. What Booker Washington was to the Negro race; what Cushing Eells was to the religious and educational life of the northwest, Jesus is to life.

"There were many ways in which Jesus pioneered. He pioneered in unselfishness. He demonstrated that self interest need not be the dominant motive and is not the main spring of progress. He pioneered in clean living in a world with many temptations to uncleanness. He was a pioneer in his way of thinking about God and in his way of living with Him. He was a pioneer in making religion a way of life rather than a system of regulations. He pioneered in his belief in personal immortality."

Rapid Advance of First Christian Church Recalled

The First Christian church of Santa Ana was organized June 5, 1881, in Latimer hall. Of the first 21 members Mrs. E. E. Gist, teacher of the Women's Bible class, and Miss Etta Williams, of Compton, are believed to be the only ones surviving. The Rev. B. F. Coulter, an evangelist, organized the church in Good Templars' hall.

The congregation grew with such rapidity that it became necessary to build a church where worship could be conducted properly. The original church building was erected in 1887 on the northeast corner of Sixth and Birch streets, at a cost of $3500, and at that time had the largest church auditorium in the city. The Rev. T. D. Garvin was pastor. During the summer and fall of 1909, while the present building was under construction, the congregation held meetings in a tent on the lot where the old church had stood. The building was dedicated on May 1, 1910.

In 1928 the congregation built the Orange avenue Christian church, on the corner of Orange and McFadden streets, at a cost of about $14,000. This building was dedicated in October, 1928. Since its organization the church has grown rapidly and additions have been made to the building. The membership is 954. The Bible school has grown yearly and now has 1100 students enrolled, with an average attendance of 650.

The first Christian Endeavor society was organized in 1890, with eight or 10 members. Today there are three such societies with an average attendance of 125. The church is planning a women's educational unit, which will be built at the northeast corner of Sixth and Birch streets, and which will be dedicated on June 8.

The following have served as pastors of the church: The Revs. Carroll Kendrick, G. R. Hand, J. H. McCullough, H. D. Cornell, Joseph Lowe, F. N. Calvin, Charles A. Young, A. F. Roadhouse, Paul E. Wright, Lloyd Dorsie, F. T. Porter and W. S. Buchanan.

PASTOR URGES LENT AS TIME OF HARD WORK

"Many of us today are thinking of the possibilities and the outcome of the Lenten period," said the Rev. W. J. Hatter, Church of the Messiah, yesterday morning, his topic being, "The Oversight of Christ and Our Powers."

"To carry out this program for Lent means work and nothing is done without work," the Rev. Mr. Hatter said. "If we do not do God's work, He finds some one else to do it and do it His way. God sent Ananias to Saul and he did not want to go. But He found Paul. We should look to Christ as the overseer of the church with the rector responsible for the work of the church under God.

"We need to believe in the oversight of Christ, to believe he can heal. It is as unreasonable to take drugs without prayer as to take prayer without healing drugs. Many famous surgeons are seen to pause a moment before an operation and seek Divine aid.

"Christ's oversight sees the future. He deals with certain things in new ways. We are bothered over things and trials come, Jesus says, 'I know thy works, thy successes, thy excellencies, where you spend your time, when your lot is set in hard places. There is no mistake; when you are in the hard places, I put you there. In the dark places you can shine for me. I know every phase of your life. You do not have to tell Christ anything. He knows it all and He bids you shine so that all may see and glorify your Father who is in heaven.'"

QUALITIES OF BEST MAN ARE OUTLINED

The Rev. U. E. Harding, pastor of the Church of the Nazarene, spoke Sunday evening on "The Best Man in the County."

Using the Fifteenth Psalm for the basis of his remarks, the pastor said in part:

"Who is he, where is he and how shall we find him? And who is to be the judge? If you think your wife's husband is he, you will be disappointed, for goodness is like meekness; the individual that has it is not conscious of it.

"He may be found inside the church, but it is possible to find him outside. If so, he is not an enemy to the church; he believes in the essentials of salvation.

"Let us have a committee to be the judge, made up of the conservatives and the radicals. Perhaps one of this committee should be chosen from the outside. The church can well afford to listen once in a while to at least some things a non-church man may have to say for he views life from a different angle.

"The Bible must be used for the rule and measures. The Fifteenth Psalm gives his photograph. He measures with the golden rule; he considers the welfare of others; he uses judgment with his sympathy and mercy with his judgment; he remembers the poor, but does not depend on that to get him to heaven. He does not do these things to make him a Christian."

SATAN AND PRODIGAL SON USED AS SERMON TOPICS

"Satan" was the topic of a stirring address delivered yesterday morning by Dr. Harry G. Miller, pastor of the Independent Baptist church.

"The Scripture spends about as much time on and mentions Satan about as often as it does God," Dr. Miller said. "The moment that God's Word is sown in the heart of the unbeliever there are two forces that rush to that heart, the Holy Spirit and Satan, both bartering for the soul of the man. The Gospel is simple, but the devil has heaped up so much rubbish in front of it that man sometimes cannot see it; and for this cause, God will send strong delusion, that they should believe a lie. No doubt the devil thinks he is right, or he wouldn't be so foolish as to be playing into the hands of God so frequently.

Satan is spiritually dead. Why wouldn't he be deluded as well as man, who is spiritually dead, is deluded. Today Satan believes he is right when he is planning so many things which seem to be enmity towards God."

In the evening the pastor's subject was "The Prodigal Son."

"He went away from his father's house and spent all he had on the wrong kind of living," the speaker said. "But the most beautiful part of this whole story is that he repented and went back home. His father received him with outstretched arms. Today our Father will receive us and take us back into the family of God if we will repent and go back home where the table is spread with all the good things of God."

Scriptures," presented these words by Mary Baker Eddy: "Jesus established His church and maintained His mission on a spiritual foundation of Christ-healing."

"Jesus established what he said by demonstration, thus making His acts of higher importance than His words. He proved what He taught."

Whosoever believeth that Jesus is the Christ is born of God; and every one that loveth Him that begat loveth Him also that is begotten of Him." These words from the first epistle of John constituted the Golden Text in the Lesson-Sermon on "Christ Jesus" Sunday, March 2, in all churches of Christ, Scientist, branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass.

One of the Scripture selections in the Lesson-Sermon cited instructions of Christ Jesus in sending forth the seventy disciples, in which the Master said, "And heal the sick that are therein, and say unto them, The Kingdom of God is come nigh unto you." It contained also the report of the seventy when they "returned again with joy, saying, Lord, even the devils are subject unto us through Thy name."

BELIEF IN GOD IS SUBJECT OF PASTOR'S TALK

The Rev. J. W. Saunders, evangelist, of the Southside Church of Christ, chose as his subject for a sermon yesterday, "Can I Believe in God?" The pastor said in part:

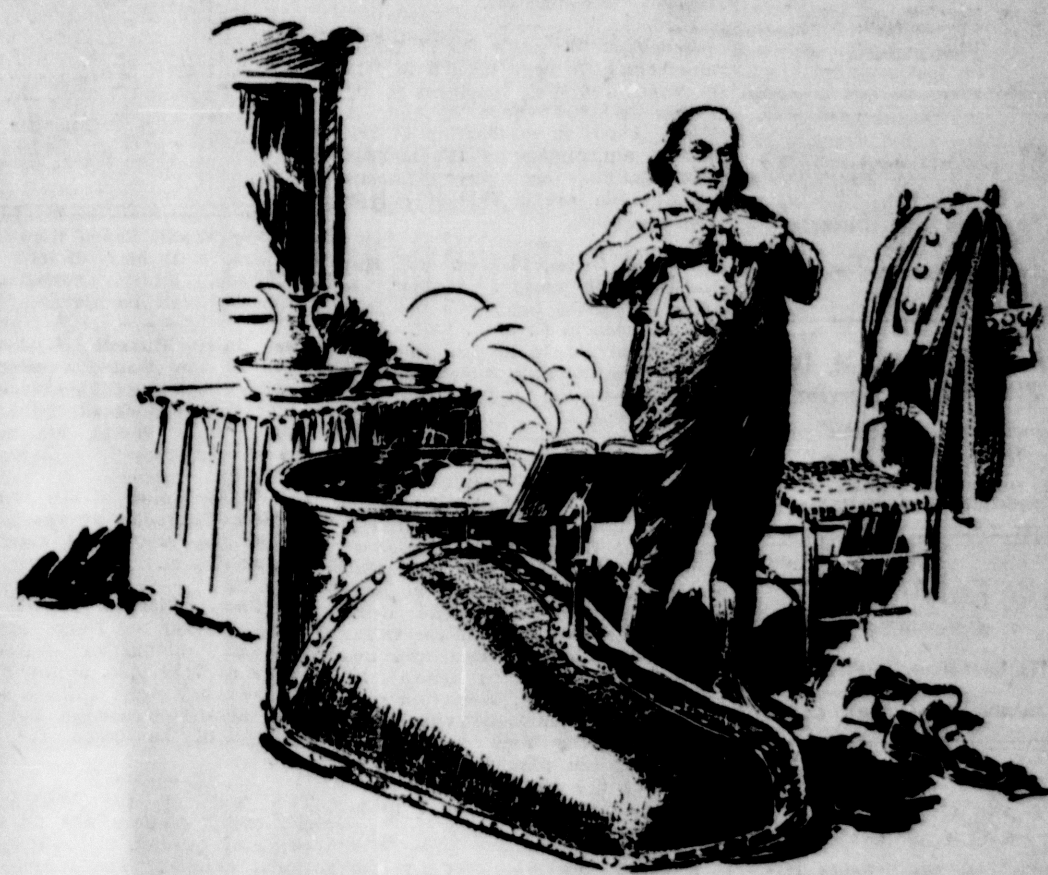

"Jesus taught His disciples to believe in God. There are people to day who tell us that they cannot believe. Is this true? I am going to try and answer this question by showing you the state of mind find myself in if I refuse to believe in God.

"I cannot explain the universe. Atheistic evolution says that the origin of things was purely accidental. Theistic evolution abandon its case against the doctrine of creation when it admits intelligent work behind the scheme of things. All evolutionists admit, they are honest, that their theory rests upon supposition. All intelligent people admit that nature shows evidence of design. No man can give an intelligent account of the origin of things and leave God out.

"I cannot explain the existence of the Bible. Superstition will not explain it, because some of the most learned people believe its teaching. Desire for it cannot account for its existence, for men have made every effort to destroy it. To believe that God reveals his will in the Bible is the most reasonable explanation of its continued existence.

"I cannot explain Jesus. His personality is not due either to heredity or environment. His goodness does not explain him, for if he is not what he claims to be, there is nothing good about him; he is a vile impostor. The only reasonable explanation is, God manifested in the flesh. Belief explains many things to me. Unbelief leaves me at sea."

Ben Franklin Bathed in a Shoe!

HIS bath-tub ... history tells us ... was built of copper ... and shaped like a slipper.

Long waits ... each time ... for the water to heat in pots and pans ... how Franklin would have appreciated the modern bathroom as we know it today!

Have you an old time gas water heater ... that must be lighted ... whenever you want hot water?

Then you must know ... how Franklin felt ... as he waited and waited ... for the water to get hot enough to use.

Modern folk do not choose to wait ... there are too many things to do ... places to go ... time is too precious.

They insist on having hot water ... INSTANTLY, without the delay ... of lighting the gas ... with a match ... under an old-time heater.

You never wait ... on a Welsbach Hotzone water heater ... it is automatic ... keeps the water hot for you in insulated storage ... just turn the faucet ... anytime ... hot water instantly.

Mrs. Mercereau's Class Members Meet For Gay Party

One of the final patriotic parties of February was held on the final day of the month in the home of Mrs. Will W. Jones, 108 Hickory street, where Mrs. L. D. Mercereau's Sunday school class of young women enjoyed the hospitality of Mrs. Jones.

Mrs. Jones, Mrs. Zedie Gibbs, Mrs. Alfred Van Dusen, Mrs. Blanche Witt, Miss Edna Gamble, Miss Lella Rittner, Miss Jessie Emma Files and Miss Blanche Westering.

Sweet peas, carnations and other vernal flowers made the home attractive, and flags, hatchets and cherry trees were conspicuous not only in decorations, but also in the games. In one of the latter, heads of presidents were pasted over those in magazine illustrations, and Mrs. Muriel Mason was the most skillful in ascertaining the correct identity of these dignified statesmen in such unusual settings.

She was rewarded with a great cluster of sweet peas, while Mrs. Sarah Hutton was consoled with a candy axe and fence rail.

Mrs. Isabelle Wade took first place in a cherry contest, while Mrs. Elizabeth Shugart and Mrs. Hutton tied for consolation. In a singing contest, the group which presented "Dixie" took honors for the most noise.

Cake, flag-topped jello and hot chocolate were served as the merry evening drew to a close for the class members who included Betty Blythe, Florence Dolg, Helen Smith, Hazel Willey, Isabelle Wade, Juanita Snyder, Lucille Farret, Violet Plavan, Florence Benson, Jeanne Johnson, Aletta Cole, Myrtle Abplanian, Inez Howard, Margaret Householder, Estella McFarren, Muriel Maslin, Ann Henderson, Georgia Sherrill, Olga Benson, Sarah Hutton, Alberta Wallace, Gladys Thomas, Amy Bracewell, Marie Roehm, Dorothy Gibson, Grace Brennecke, Dahlia Swift, Marie C. WOMEN-SOCIETY-THE HOME

And Now-A Superlative Beef Stew!

I believe it was Emerson who said that if a man made a mouse trap that was a little better than anything of the kind in existence, the world would make a path to his door to buy it.

Modern advertising experts dispute that statement by saying that the man must first let the world know that he has a superlative article to offer before he can expect to sell his article. So—taking the side of the advertiser I will do a little belly-aching about a way I have of making a superlative beef stew.

For four people buy 1 1/4 pounds of lean beef (shoulder or round). Have it cut in inch cubes and with it have a few cubes of beef stew. Put the meat to fry and when very hot put in the beef, stir until seared and a little brown.

Here is where the superlative part comes in: Add a can of VEGETABLE SOUP, some water, a little chopped parsley, celery if you have it, perhaps a spoonful of canned corn. Simmer two hours, then add two or three carrots, same number of white turnips, cut in pieces, and several small boiling onions. Cover closely and let the vegetables steam. Do not stir the stew after adding the vegetables—it breaks them. If the stew is not brown enough add some caramel coloring or brown some flour. No thickening is needed for the gravy—the ingredients in the soup do that. Season just before serving.

TODAY'S RECIPE

Steamed Carrot Pudding

1 cup grated raw carrot
1 cup grated raw potato
1 cup flour
1 cup sugar
1 cup seeded raisins
1-2 cup melted butter
1 teaspoon each, cloves, cinnamon and allspice
1 teaspoon soda.

I am giving the recipe as it was given to me and as I tried it the first time. I found the pudding good but not quite as rich as I like steamed puddings. The next time I made it I used one-half cup of black molasses, reduced the sugar to two-thirds cup, and added one-half cup of flour.

Raw carrot or potato, grated, improve the texture and flavor of any steamed pudding.

Speed in mixing is a factor. First get the raisins washed, dried and floured; next sift and measure the flour and melt the butter. Have the two vegetables peeled, the pudding vessel buttered and the water bath on the boil. Grate the vegetables into the mixing bowl, add the sugar, spices and soda and stir until the mixture foams a trifle. Mix in the flour smoothly, add the melted butter and a few of the raisins. Pour a little batter into the pan, sprinkle with raisins, then alternate batter and raisins till finished. Cover the vessel tightly and put in boiling water to steam for three hours.

Serve the pudding with a hot lemon sauce or with whipped cream beaten with a small glass of currant jelly.

The pudding will serve eight generously. The calorie total is 2450, with many energy calories included. No provision is made for the sauce or whipped cream—add 100 calories for the sauce and 200 for cream. This pudding may be re-heated by steaming and is quite as good as the first time.

ANN'S NEW COOK BOOK

I know that many readers of the Mixing Bowl save the recipes printed each week. I thought it might be nice if I were to offer one each month for 12 months a leaflet containing my most cherished recipes. The leaflets will be uniform in size and if punched and filed in loose covered books a convenient cook book would be always at hand.

So the first of them is offered this week—free—if you send a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

TOWER OF BLUE

NEW YORK, March 3.—Color seems to be hitting the skyscraper architects. The recently planned Fashion building will be a light blue with gold, green and purple trimmings. Gold and yellow will predominate in the lower stories, progressing to a light blue and green band, and a central tower of light blue. The building will house "fashion clinics."

The victorious 1929 Schneider trophy seaplane of England, in flying nearly 6 miles per minute, or 360 miles an hour, would reach its objective more quickly than would a Howitzer shell.

Dr. Carl's Discovery

Stops Gas, Constipation

In his private practice, Dr. Carl Wechske first perfected the simple mixture now known as Ad-Ad-Ad. Unlike most remedies, Ad-Ad-Ad acts on BOTH upper and lower bowel and removes old poisons you would never believe were in your system. Stops GAS bloating in 10 minutes! Relieves chronic constipation in 2 hours! Let Ad-Ad-Ad give your stomach and bowels a NEAL cleaning and see how good you feel! It will surprise you! G. B. Kelley Drug Co.—Ad-Ad.

The WOMAN'S DAY

This is no plea for prevarication, but perhaps it may sound like it when I say that there is entirely too much truth being told.

It is one thing to tell the truth, at a time of a crisis, when it might be easier to lie and save your skin, but quite another to tell the truth when there is no particular issue involved, and when your victim is trying to keep herself from knowing the worst.

What virtue is there in coming out with a truth like this: "My dear, I think you must have gained ten pounds?"

To be sure, it will neutralize that person's pleasure in her next good square meal, and make her wish she had not eaten it, after she has—but what of that?

Or what sort of a greeting is this? . . . "What a shame your pretty blue dress stretched so in cleaning—I thought it was the best looking thing you had."

A further observation that all cleaners should be shot is a general, rather than an individual, solution of the problem, and does not help you. You yourself realized vaguely that the dress was undergoing a state of transition, but you hoped, dumbly, that it would pull itself together and last through the season.

"I don't like that tired look about your eyes," says your hostess. "You should take better care of yourself." You don't like it either. And you would like to sleep for a month, but you can't. You are days behind with your work as it is.

A TIME FOR TRUTH

There are times when one needs to be told certain truths, but I have a feeling that one should be told by the right person, under the most favorable circumstances.

If a cosmetician tells you your eyes look tired, you having sought her counsel, you can bear to hear it, because you feel she can do something about it. Just flop back in the chair, and let her give you the works.

A dressmaker can tell you that the dress you have on does not fit you, and should be remedied thus:

and so—it is her business to see such details—but when your savior notices that the dress does not fit, there is something wrong. Had you been sufficiently charming, he would never have noticed your gown—you know that.

POWER OF SUGGESTION

Most of us are painfully amenable to suggestion. About four good compliments in an evening and any woman becomes her own incarnation of Helen of Troy. But likewise, four reminders that you look tagged out in one evening, will defeat you to the point where you are ready to start for the nearest river, with a rock tied to each hand.

If a woman looks tired, or has on a badly fitting frock, she probably knows it, and is hoping that no one else is going to notice it. She is not in the proper receptive mood for truth. A wholesome lie will go much better.

Remember the man who had no talents, no gift for repartee, and no social gifts, but was a Casanova with women because he always used the same line on all of them: "Did anyone tell you that you have wonderful eyes?"

There should be more men and women of this type, and fewer tellers of the unvarnished truth, in order to bring out the best in the race.

SLEEPLESS 15 YEARS

BUDAPEST, March 1.—Paul Kern, famous welfare worker of Hungary, hasn't slept for 15 years. On June 24, 1915, he was shot in the head in a street fight near Lemberg, Poland. The bullet wound caused a nervous disease which has not allowed him to sleep during the past 15 years. A Berlin clinic has offered to cure him.

During 1929 there were 1009 conventions held in New York City, bringing more than 750,000 people there during the year.

It is possible to travel by train right across Europe and Asia, from Calais to Vladivostok, a distance of 7000 miles.

BROADWAY DRAMA IS SKY THRILLER

A thrill filled story from start to finish, "The Sky Hawk," first all-talking air picture to be produced by William Fox, comes to the Fox-Broadway theater today for a four-day run, succeeding "Burning Up," which closed there last night.

The picture is a story of the war, with England as the background. Most of the scenes are shot in and around London during the air raids on that city of Zeppelins, and one of the feature shots of the film shows a giant Zeppelin shot down in flames.

John Garrick and Helen Chandler have the principal roles in the picture. Garrick plays the part of the son of a great British peer, who is found in an aviation camp at the start of the war. Here he trains to go with his battalion to France, but on the eve of departure, crashes and is seriously hurt. Many believe he crashed purposely to avoid going to the front and, in order to clear his name, after being discharged from the service, he stages one of the greatest one man air raids in the history of the war.

In love with a girl whom his major also loves, he finds himself in trouble many times. But the girl sticks by him throughout his trouble, to meet him in the end in a romantic embrace. Crashes, fights, dangerous landings and night flying add to the tenseness of the film.

Aside from the feature, a Fox Movietone news reel and all talking comedy also are shown.

MARRIAGE DRAMA AT WEST COAST

"The Marriage Playground," latest all-talking Paramount production, a story that will appeal to every father and mother in Santa Ana, opens a three-day engagement at the Fox-West Coast theater today.

The story is based on the question, "What becomes of the children when divorce enters the home?" and is admirably answered in one way in the picture.

Frederic March has the leading male role in the play, that of Martin Boyne, who meets one of the children in Europe while he is on his way to Switzerland to see his fiancée. He falls in love with her while she is attempting to take care of five little brothers and sisters, left to find their own way about Europe's playgrounds, while the mother and father battle in the courts.

How he manages to take care of the children after falling in love with the eldest, gives the story a peculiar twist that finds happiness for all at the end of the film.

Mary Brian has the feminine lead, while Lilyan Tashman, Kay Francis and Huntley Gordon also have important roles. The children seen in the picture are the best little actors and actresses in film-dom, all having been in pictures here before.

Aside from the feature, a Fox movietone and new reel and an all-talking comedy also are shown.

WESTERN TALKIE PLAYS AT WALKER

Snapping with action, humming with the old west and seething with romance and adventure, "The Parade of the West," Vitaphone all-talking production, starring Ken Maynard, which is closing tonight at Walker's State, is a splendid example of the entertainment value of a good western picture. Also it shows the refreshing zest added to western pictures by the advent of sound.

"The Parade of the West" revives two rapidly fading institutions, with all the glamour that made them so picturesquely American—the old-time medicine show and the original wild west show.

The picture is lifted far out of the class of the ordinary by the songs played and sung by Maynard and members of the cast, old-time western favorites like "The Chisholm Trail," "Down in Union County" and "Sally Got A Wooden Leg."

Maynard was the first "western" star to make an all-talking picture. He was quick to realize that "westerns," with their fast moving stories, their rapid-fire dialogue, their songs and music and their natural sound "effects," were more suited to sound than the ordinary motion picture, and he took full advantage of it.

THE TINYMITES

STORY BY HAL COCHRAN—PICTURES BY KING

Just as the plane rose off the ground, while Scouty kept on jumping around, the Tinymites all yelled, "Grab it, lads! Don't let it climb! Our work, I fear, will all be lost if in the wind the plane is tossed. If we can grab the wings we'll be just in the nick of time."

"He's right," exclaimed the friendly boy. "This little plane's more than a toy. I fear the Tinymites will be the losers, if it gets away. I plan to let you ride on high and maybe sail through the sky. Unless you all act very quick, 'twill simply spoil the day."

Then Clowzy cried, "Hurrah! I'm sick. I have a hold. Come help me, quick. I know I am not strong enough to hold this plane alone. Grab hold the tail. Don't let it race. Come on, hold on to any place." The plane then gave a sudden jerk and made poor Clowzy groan.

By this time all the rest had seized parts of the plane. The boy was pleased. "Now pull it down to earth again," he shouted, full of glee. "Just show me how you all can work." The Tinymites gave the plane a jerk. It shortly settled on the ground, as nice as a new car.

"Hurrah! We win!" one Tiny cried. "I think that we have earned a ride." "You bet you have," the boy replied. "Just drop right in the ship. I'll wind the rubber band up tight and everything will be all right. I'm going to send you sailing on a very lovely trip."

"That's fine! That's great!" the Tinymites roared and shortly they were all aboard. The boy wound up the rubber band up tight and the plane rose up toward the sky. The boy cried out, "I hope you all enjoy the sights you see."

(The Tinymites run into trouble in the next story.)

WINTER'S PARADOX

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., March 3.—Dr. J. H. Pittman sat dozing in the warm sunshine sipping a cooling drink. The telephone rang and a voice at the other end of the wire asked for a treatment for frozen feet. "Is this a joke?" asked the good doctor. "No indeed," came the reply—which proved to be a call from the Radio Marine Corporation's station here which had picked up a call from the S. S. Mairverne in the North Atlantic asking for the treatment.

EDUCATION ON MOSES FOR SUNDAY CLASS

Speaking on the subject, "You Can Be the Kind of Man That God Can Use," J. Frank Burke addressed a class of 27 men at the Bible class meeting yesterday morning in the Fox-West Coast theater.

"Regardless of personal characteristics there is a place for each man in God's plan," he said. "Even the man who is practically a failure can accomplish great things. Take Moses for example—he never did fully succeed, yet he was a man who could be trusted and depended upon with one great outstanding quality, a determination to help others."

"In his attempt to help others he killed an Egyptian and was forced to flee to another country. Most of us, after getting into such a muddle, would say 'Never again' and would quit trying to help others. It did not quench Moses' desire to protect the weak, and should be a great lesson to us."

"No man, probably, could have made more discouraging mistakes than Moses, yet God chose him from all the world to lead his people into the promised land. Reflection also had taught Moses humility, and when God called he answered: 'Whom am I to do this great work?'"

"The desire of an individual to help, coupled with the leadership of God, will accomplish much. All our great leaders have been persons who had their hand in the hand of God and followed Him, or who have listened to Him. The person who, under these conditions, does his best regardless of his abilities, will accomplish much."

"Men like Dwight Moody are the ones that God uses. Church workers thought Moody was an insufficiently educated to teach a Bible class, but he went ahead and gathered a group from the streets, which led to his great work. Joan of Arc, who thought she heard the voice of God, accomplished much and is an inspiration to us."

"There is something more important in life than success. It is character. The lives of the men and women who have been the greatest inspiration to the rest of the world are those of persons who were willing to fail to carry out the will of God."

The musical feature at the service was presented by the Dorcas chorus, a women's organization under the direction of Mrs. Harry Hayes. The group presented three numbers, "Redeemer, Savior, Lord," "The King of Love My Shepherd Is," and "The Call." The chorus was accompanied by Mrs. Harry Weatherall. The regular class orchestra, augmented by Paul LeBar at the organ, also furnished several numbers. Herchel Clayton directed the song service.

Pastor Talks On Missionary Work

Taking as the topic of his sermon yesterday morning, "Has Christ Failed in Foreign Fields," the Rev. W. S. Buchanan, pastor of the First Christian church, told of the experiences and activities of missionaries in the Orient. He related experiences of Robert Morrison in India, and of other church workers. He explained the success of the campaign to spread the Gospel.

In the evening the pastor spoke on "Jesus Passing By." He explained the necessity, as the Lord passes by, of taking Him into one's heart and life.

SOCIETY

D. A. R. Members Hear Talk On Constitution

The Santa Ana chapter of the D. A. R. was indeed fortunate in having Lynn H. Crawford, faculty member of the Santa Ana Polytechnic high school, address them Saturday at their regular monthly meeting held at the home of Mrs. Charles F. Smith, 1717 North Broadway.

Mr. Crawford gave a most interesting and enlightening talk, choosing as his subject "Historic Highlights of the Constitution and Present Day Problems in Relation to It." He stated that the needs of the constitution were planted long before the Philadelphia convention and reviewed some of the accomplishments of several informal meetings of delegates from the various states, which were held prior to the Philadelphia convention. The first of these informal gatherings was held at the invitation of Washington at his home in Mt. Vernon. Washington's influence was very strong in stimulating the spirit of co-operation and effective in bringing about compromises.

The speaker dwelt upon the fact that because we all have a part in the making of our laws there is a great personal responsibility in seeing that the laws are obeyed, thus contributing our "bit" to the successful working of the constitution.

Mr. Crawford voiced the sentiment of many of the leaders of today when he stated that in view of our high type of government it was surprising that there should be such an appalling amount of crime in our country and such a high percentage of law disobedience and stressed the importance of training the young people to observe and honor the laws of today, thus helping to lessen crime and stimulate greater respect for the law.

The regular St. John's church, again reminded the members of the state convention to be held at San Diego from March 12 to 15. The hostesses were Mrs. Charles F. Smith, chairman, Mrs. L. M. Forney, Mrs. B. W. Andrews, Mrs. A. J. Lauby, Miss Plumb, Miss Whitson.

Next month's meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. A. J. Cruickshank, Tuesday.

Expression Recital Is Enjoyable Affair

The pupils of Miss Etta Hale's expression class are being showered with compliments for the success of their recital given Friday evening at the First Methodist church before a large audience.

Elbert Stewart showed remarkable talent in his recital, "How Happy Playful he did Miss Dorothy McGuigan as 'A Teacher's Trials,' and 'In Imminent Peril.'"

Other outstanding readers were Dorothy Matz, Naomi Dennis, Ruth Greenwood, Agnes Brady, Marie and Shirley Rampton and Betty Schiel.

The boys, Guy and Reynolds Martin, Richard Norval and tiny Harold Witt, won applause with the well rendered readings.

Miss Lois Stewart, voice pupil of Harry Garstang sang two delightful solos, and Miss Thelma Glascock, piano pupil of Minnie Phillips held pleased with two difficult piano numbers.

Spanish Theme Chosen For Dinner Party In Fine Home

A dinner Espanol was the interesting event presented by Horace Fine and his daughter, Miss Cleora Fine, last night in their home, 1002 North Broadway, where guests were regaled with the spicy dishes of Spain prepared under the direction of Miss Isabel Lopez, niece of the host.

Everyone enjoyed the menu which featured tortillas, chili con pompo, and other delectable dishes, all typically Latin in their ingredients and concoction.

Covers were placed for Mr. Fine, Miss Cleora Fine, Miss Lopez, Mr. and Mrs. William Castler, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. West, Mr. and Mrs. George W. Young, Dr. and Mrs. H. M. Fine of the Veterans' hospital at San Fernando, and their niece, Miss Leona Gray of San Diego; Mrs. Charlotte Lufbery and Miss Mollie Carroll.

CHICAGO BD. OF TRADE

CHICAGO, March 3.—(UP)—A board decision to discontinue buying at its fixed price level, by both domestic and foreign markets, sent wheat prices tumbling on the Board of Trade today. The greatest drop was in the new crop months, those months being relatively much weaker than March and May. Local professionals sold aggressively and while the farm board seemed assembly lent their support at times, the rallies were few and weak. Corn was sharply lower while oats was also affected by wheat.

At the close wheat was 2 1/2 to 4 1/2 lower, corn was 1 to 3 1/2 lower and oats was 1/2 to 1 1/2 lower. Provisions were steady.

The Black Circle

A Thrilling Detective Story by Mansfield Scott

49TH INSTALLMENT

But the key-hole, although unusually large, did not extend through the door. Evidently the mechanical bolts were operated from outside in some other manner—or it was possible that they could not be turned at all when the lock was secured from within. For a long minute, Caldwell listened. Not a sound penetrated through the solid wood.

Then, suddenly, a new project took shape before Caldwell, a far safer and more subtle plan. It was a scheme which might prove altogether independent of whether or not there were more than one man outside the door. He arose, and glanced at Garrish. The giant's head and shoulder lay in view of any one who might enter by the door.

Crossing the room, he seized the man's feet, and dragged him to a place of concealment behind the table. Garrish uttered a stifled protest, but subsided instantly under the menace of the leveled weapon. With another sharp admonition to the servant, Caldwell returned to the door.

Garrish's form was now completely hidden from view. Bending his head to the vicinity of the key-hole, Caldwell uttered sharply:

"Hast! Hast!"

Dead silence from the hall outside followed.

Caldwell tapped gently upon the wood.

"Has-a-ast!" he signaled again. This time a gruff voice responded instantly.

"Hullo? What 'chu want?"

It was the critical moment. Caldwell lowered his voice to mimic the tone of Garrish.

"Where's that chief?"

"What's that?" demanded the other. His voice came more distinctly as he approached the door.

"Where's the chief?" repeated Caldwell heavily.

"He's downstairs. What 'chu want?"

Caldwell bent his head closer to the crack of the door.

"The fellow in here is sick," he said. "Get the chief."

Came a note of sharp interest from the man outside—a note which carried unmistakably through the heavy panels.

"Sick?" What's the matter with him?"

And in that instant, Caldwell smiled. He saw then, for the first time, how completely and how thoroughly his scheme had taken advantage of the circumstances.

Beyond doubt, it had been a cautious move indeed when he had declined his dinner!

Some incident—what it had been, he could not ascertain until later—some incident had given the directors of the household grave cause for alarm. Perhaps they had deemed an unconscious prisoner far safer, for the present, supposing, at all events, that the dinner had been drugged—now the guest was ill. It was admirable.

The man outside was still waiting. Caldwell resumed the sly tones of Garrish.

"He's sick. Get the boss."

"What's the matter with him?" questioned the other again.

A startling sound interrupted Caldwell's answer. Garrish, with his brain fully awakened at last, had perceived his captor's intention, and, rather bravely, had staked all upon uttering a warning to the man outside. Thrashing his limbs wildly, and struggling half upright, he endeavored to cry out; and the door was filled with a long, half-suffling, half-sobbing groan.

Caldwell's lips tightened although the man uttered, at last, a faint groan. He bent lower, and thrust his sun toward Garrish's head beneath the intervening hand of the man outside. Caldwell's lips tightened although the man uttered, at last, a faint groan. He bent lower, and thrust his sun toward Garrish's head beneath the interven-

And now anything else which you may happen to have upon your person," requested Caldwell.

The other swore. "What do you mean?"

"More quietly," was the answer. "I mean that you are to empty your pockets."

A full shade of color left the chief director's face, and his exclamation was so loud that Caldwell swung the weapon level with his eyes.

"Take off your coat, and throw it on the chair."

"Well, you incomparable idiot!" declared the host. And, nervously watching the muzzle of the weapon, he obeyed.

Caldwell drew the garment toward him, and searched it with his left hand. An addressed and stamped letter was his first discovery.

He drew forth another which had already been opened, and which bore a post mark. Thoughtfully he regarded the address. A third envelope had also come through the mail. Its address was the same as that upon the second.

"I see that you are Mr. Frederick Merrivale, quite well known of the Newport Harbor."

Something vastly like a hiss escaped the other's lips. "Perhaps you are also aware that this inquisitiveness will prove your death warrant, within a very few minutes—or seconds."

"Pray, let it be minutes, rather than seconds, Mr. Merrivale," urged Caldwell. "A minute or two longer of life—it might be desirable for both of us, perhaps. Now, what is this?"

He had drawn forth a small, black volume, or notebook, with typewritten pages secured by a pair of metal clasps. The book proved to be a complete record of the various secret acts then in use by the organization.

As further confirmation of this fact, a telegram was revealed between two of the pages—in truth, two sheets of message, the original in code, on yellow paper, and its transcription into understandable English, recently accomplished by Merrivale or by one of his subordinates, on blue paper.

That is a lot of automobiles. Orange County is just filling up with new Studebakers and good used cars which we have sold. Over 3650 automobiles we have sold during the about ten and one-half years we have represented Studebaker in Orange County. That's quite some experience. We have a lot of good friends and boosters to show for those sales.

Come in, buy one of our cars, and join our happy family. We have some good ones to offer right now, for instance here's—

A Studebaker real late series President 8 State Sedan, with 6 wire wheels, folding trunk rack, new tires and fully warranted in every way for $1450.00. New one today would cost $2150.00. This car is really worth 200 more than we are asking for it. A Studebaker Commander Sedan. A good buy for $1450.00, reduced from $1550.00. Well worth the money.

A Studebaker Dictator Royal Sedan, A-1 in every way for or $1995.00. Has just been substantially reduced in price.

EVENING SALUTATION
"Each generation may profit by what has been done before, but we must all discover the big things in life for ourselves."
—Theodore F. Merseles.

APPEALING TO AMERICAN DELEGATES

We believe the appeal of the Foreign Policy Association to the American delegation of the London naval conference will find a strong and hearty response in the minds of millions of the American people today. In the light of Secretary of State Stimson's position at the conference, it is well that they reiterated the language of President Hoover, delivered on Armistice Day, when he said so clearly and emphatically, "We will reduce our naval strength in proportion to any other. Having said that, it only remains for the others to say how low they will go, it cannot be too low for us."

And then we believe they expressed the sentiment of the people when they said: "This policy of reduction has had and continues to have the overwhelming indorsement and support of the American people. We protest against any possibility that this policy of reduction may be abandoned."

1200 people signed this appeal, and these people were many of the leaders in the intellectual and political life of the nation, including eight governors and the presidents of many colleges and universities.

After President Hoover and Premier MacDonald had their conference, among other things they jointly said:

Our conversations have been largely confined to the mutual relations of the two countries in the light of the situation created by the signing of the peace pact. Therefore, in a new and reinforced sense the two governments not only declare that war between them is unthinkable, but that distrusts and suspicions arising from doubts and fears which may have been justified before the peace pact, must now cease to influence national policy. We approach old historical problems from a new angle and in a new atmosphere. On the assumption that war between us is banished, and that conflicts between our military and naval forces cannot take place, these problems have changed their meaning and character, and their solution in ways satisfactory to both countries has become possible.

Italy and France have no battleships. Japan desires their abolition. Secretary Stimson suggested the other day in a comprehensive proposal that the United States would scrap three battleships if Britain would scrap five and Japan one. This sounds good, but in face of the fact that Mr. MacDonald had earlier declared his willingness to consider the total abolition of the battleship fleets, it is not so good.

We could easily take our position in harmony with his attitude. It appears that the official statement handed some time ago to Mr. MacDonald which would give the United States the right to build one additional super-battleship costing the taxpayers from 30 to 35 millions of dollars, was refused by Mr. MacDonald, and he added that his government would like to see "any agreement by which battleships will in due time disappear altogether, as it considers them a very doubtful proposition, in view of their size and cost and of the development of the efficacy of air and submarine attack."

With this statement from Mr. MacDonald, a fine opportunity was furnished our own delegation to accept his proposition and propose the abolition of battleships entirely. It is difficult for diplomats to about-face after they have made a proposition entirely out of harmony with the one clearly desired.

Mr. Stimson is in that attitude. He could hardly have represented Mr. Hoover when he proposed an increase in battleships, and may we hope that this appeal from the Foreign Policy Association may be used as the excuse, if not the reason, for emphasizing and incorporating the President's policy in harmony with Mr. MacDonald's.

FORTUNATE IN JAIL

We wonder if the news item from New York this morning will cause many husbands to have a willingness to go to jail. A man, who was convicted eight years ago of a crime and incarcerated in prison during that period, found that his wife had built up his business from $25,000 to a business that sold in the open market for $240,000. The property was divided up; he received his share and is starting West with $125,000 in his pockets.

We have known other men whose business would have been in better shape at the end of eight years if they had been in jail and their wives had conducted the business. But then you can't jail men for inefficiency.

ANOTHER CHICAGO ROUND-UP

Chicago has had another week-end round-up of hoodlums and crooks and the riff-raff of the underworld. 814 were taken in the net this time.

They evidently go in the front door of the jail in Chicago, and out the rear door. If somebody would only close the rear door, there they evidently keep right on going. They are making the circuit, in the front door and out the back door, once a week.

If something more isn't done than simply rounding them up, it will become humorous.

MARCH FORECASTS

Now we will forgive the forecasters at Santa Clara university if their predictions for March come true, namely, that we will have plenty of rain this month.

We need it, and we will forget the prediction of a dry January that was so beautifully wet, if this month will only make good.

A POSSIBLE REAL SCRAP

It is remarkable how you can unite people against a thing, and they keep united until you begin suggesting what plan to follow. Take prohibition for instance. The people who are opposed to it are opposed to it for an infinite number of reasons.

Some of them are opposed simply because they are opposed to anything, that is, some would like 2.75 per cent alcohol in liquor rather than one half of one per cent or less. Those who think that 2.75 per cent is about right would feel that three or four per cent was terrible, but Governor Roosevelt of New York suggests from four to six per cent in beer, ten to twelve per cent in wine and fourteen per cent in champagne, and we presume, he would want ninety-five per cent in whiskey. Then there are some that would like to have the government go into the drunkard-making business of selling the poison. There are others who do not believe that the government should fulfill the functions of supplying people with alcoholic liquor any more than they should supply the people with opium or any other drug, viewing the drunkard-making commerce at best as a sort of degraded and degrading work. They can't quite bring themselves to the idea that the government should engage in it, and while they may be opposed to prohibition, they want it carried on some other way.

The scrap against prohibition is nothing compared to the kind of a contest that would prevail to determine what they would have in its place, if it ever reached that point, which it is not likely to do. Maybe the prohibitionists could wisely let it reach that point in order that a real contest could be staged. It might result as did the famous fight of the Kilkenny cats.

Albert Bushnell Hart makes the following very significant statement in connection with this situation in Current History for March:

The experience of many years with the manufacturers of alcoholic beverages stands in the way of raising the legal alcoholic content, for they have obeyed no State or National law which they could evade with safety. If brewers were not allowed to brew beer of 4 per cent alcoholic strength, it is a fair expectation that they would sell an 8 per cent beer. If they would deal in 7 per cent wines, the bottles might be found to have 20 per cent alcohol.

CUSTOMS OFFICIALS

Mrs. and Miss Morrow were able to get into France after having forgotten their passports, and the fast train was unable to get them there before their boat left, but by radio and telegraph and all the modern facilities of swift communication they were enabled to induce the French immigration authorities to admit them without the immediate use of the passports.

Well, it is a good thing to read about, but we are certain that we met some other authorities at the various frontiers to whom all those communications would have meant nothing "in their young life" if they had been trying to operate on them. It would have taken a regular army to have even caused them to understand that there was anything going on at all.

Passports are an expensive nuisance. Maybe when the League of Nations has operated a few decades more we will be able to pass these imaginary lines between nations without examination, scrutiny, searching of luggage, together with piling out of the train displaying our soiled linen and souvenirs to the gaze of an uninterested and hostile world.

We cannot complain, however, of foreign countries, because the point at which the delay is the worst, the examination the most thorough, and where the officers are the most reluctant to pass you without getting some additional sums from you is our own group working for the United States at New York, Boston and elsewhere. It usually takes from three to five times as long to get into New York as it does to cross from any one country to another anywhere else on earth.

BRIDGE TROUBLES

The news dispatches carry the story of a woman who is suing her husband for divorce because he hit her in a card game. He struck his wife because she had bid "no trumps" when she held a perfect diamond hand, and as the person at her left led in another suit than diamonds, she was unable to get in and lost every trick.

Saying nothing about the idea of striking women as being a low down profession, if anyone can imagine greater punishment than the humiliation this woman would have faced as she contemplated her mistake, his imagination is beyond ours.

It might even have reached the point where she would refuse to play cards at all. It may be possible that her husband hit her because she felt so bad over her mistake that he wanted to give her something else to think about, on the old enunciation in the sermon of the divine who preached on the "expulsive power of a new affection."

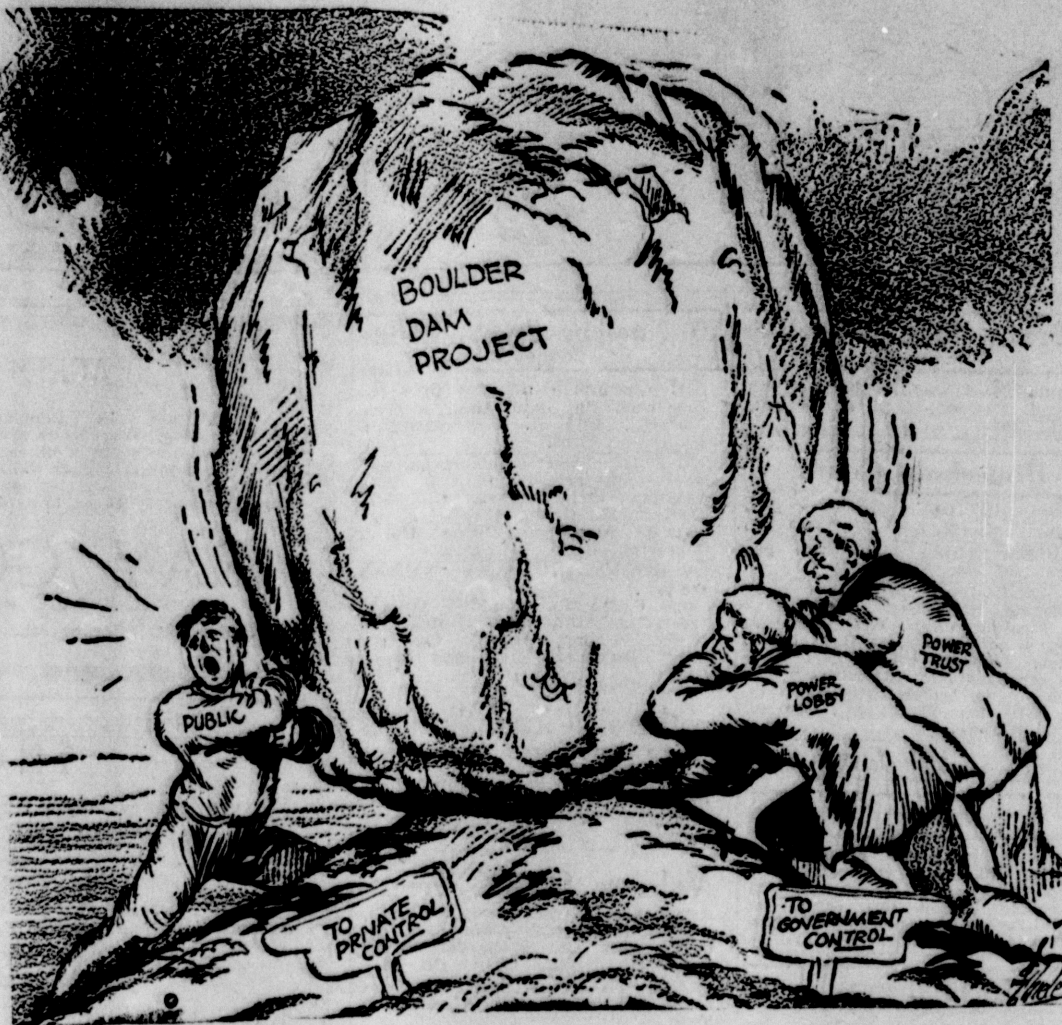

Preparation

While the most important labors are those expended to prevent accident and disaster there can be no minimizing the value of organization for action when the emergency call comes.

California learned more than one lesson in the St. Francis dam horror. First, it provided for examinations of similar structures and then it started to perfect a working group to step into service when needed. That Emergency Council was created by last year's Legislature with the specification that four of the members should be heads of the Red Cross, American Legion, Transportation interests, and business organizations. One is to be a peace officer.

Similar plans are in effect in lesser ways and for smaller areas. Berkeley is organized to fight fires in the hills; the American Legion has its emergency commission; and the Boy Scouts are trained to respond in an instant at the call for help. In the cause of preparedness there have been many gains during the past few years.

Thoughts On Modern Life

THE TRAGEDY OF AMBITION

Ambition breaks as many men as it makes. There are two poignantly tragic men in the world. The big man in a little job. The little man in a big job. There is one supremely happy man in the world. The man—be he big or little—whose career is accurately adjusted to his capacity. There are ten thousand valuable fruits of universal compulsory education, but on one count it has, I think, contributed greatly to the unhappiness of the world. It has tended to stir in thousands of good but not great young minds ambitions and desires for careers that lie clearly beyond their capacities. One of the loveliest and saddest figures in English literature is Hale White who was the Mark Rutherford of that superb classic "The Autobiography of Mark Rutherford" and its sequel, "The Deliverance of Mark Rutherford." These two books give, as H. W. Massingham puts it, "a sketch of the modern religious temper, driven like a leaf before the wind of fresh doctrine, and finding, save in a simple service of humanity, no new home." Rutherford was Hamlet-like, "the romance of a faltering hour." He tackled a task a bit beyond him, and Reuben Shapcott, editing the second edition of the autobiography, said: "It is all very well that remarkable persons should occupy themselves with exalted subjects, which are out of the ordinary road, but ordinary humanity breeds, but we who are not remarkable make a very great mistake if we have anything to do with them. If we wish to be happy, and have to live with average men and women, as most of us have to live, we must learn to take an interest in the topics which concern average men and women. "We ought not to sacrifice a single moment's pleasure in our attempt to do something which is too big for us, and as a rule men and women are always attempting what is too big for them. Great men do the world much good, but not without some harm, and we have no business to be troubling ourselves with their dreams if we have duties which lie nearer home amongst persons to whom these dreams are incomprehensible." Cynical, and not to be swallowed whole! But it is just as important for us to avoid going beyond our depth as to avoid standing timorously on the shore and never trying our strength in breasting the breakers. OUR CHILDREN

By ANGELO PATRI

LET YOUR CHILD ACT HIS AGE

Mickie was six years old when his baby brother was born. Now he is nine and his little brother is three. Their mother thinks it is very important that the brothers love each other and learn to stick together so she makes Mickie play with little brother. Neither of them has a good time. In the first place a child of three very soon becomes fatigued trying to live up to the achievements of the older child. The play that Mickie loves is beyond the little fellow. His language has little meaning for him. Play interests are too far apart ever to come together. Mickie ought to be playing marbles with his friends, who are close to his own age. He ought to be on the ball team. He should be a member of his gang. This is his gang time. His stage of growth demands the social activity, the directed purpose of the group of nine year olds. None of this is possible if he is held down to the care of his little brother. He becomes a very poor baby tender when he ought to be growing a body and an intelligence for the adolescence that will soon be upon him. The three year old child is not able to play with other children yet. But he needs to have some of them near by busy with the same interests as his own. He needs their companionship as the first step in the next stage of growth by staying with an older boy. Each child must be considered mainly as an individual. He ought to be given what he needs when he needs it. If the individuals that go to form the group are not successful in their growth the group cannot attain its highest growth. A group always has to slow down for its weaker members. Little children need companions of their own age. They ought to be a few three and four year olds now and then to stretch the horizon a bit, but the level of age of the two and three year olds ought to be about the same. Little children of two and three, years of age do not as a usual thing enter into group activities. Each plays by himself, each builds his own sand house and puts it flat with his own shovel. Yet if you will see one straighten up, give a long serious look at his neighbor's work, turn the same searching gaze on his own labors, and then fall to again harder than ever under the impulse of a new idea. They learn by watching each other. Their nearness is sufficient for the time. By and by as they grow older they fall into little groups of two and three and the rudiments of group work are formed. The nine year olds have passed this stage. To make them dwell in it for any length of time is to thwart their growth. A very dangerous thing to do from the standpoint of mental hygiene. Let the nine year old go his own way and play with boys his own age. He will have far more affection for his little brother, show him far more attention if he is not obliged to tend him and play with him daily. Keeping him tied to the baby is not the way to foster brotherly love. Far from it. (Copyright, 1930, The Bell Syn., Inc.)

ALEXANDER BELL'S BIRTH

On March 3, 1847, Alexander Graham Bell, American scientist, distinguished for his invention of the telephone, was born in Edinburgh, Scotland. After receiving his education at London University he moved to Canada with his father at the age of 23. Had it not been for the fact his father was an instructor of the deaf and dumb, Bell might never have come upon his great invention, for it was his interest in his father's work which led him to experiment with the talking telephone. At the age of 25, with a reputation already gained, Bell became professor of vocal physiology at Boston University. He continued his telephone experiments and, on Feb. 14, 1876, was granted a patent for it. This was the signal for other inventors to protest Bell's claim, but they were all overruled by the United States supreme court. Bell also invented the photophone, used for the transmission and reproduction of sounds by means of light waves, and of the graphophone, an instrument which mechanically reproduces human speech.

More Truth Than Poetry

By James J. Montague

COL. BOGIE TRAVELS

The Prince of Wales will dedicate a new golf course near the African jungle.

From Greenland's icy mountains
To India's coral strands,
Beside the purpling fountains
Along the shining sands,
Sounds many an angry splutter
As easy shots go wide
And brassie, spoon and putter
Are foizlingly plied.

Where rolls the lazy Niger
Beneath its wooded shore,
Or where the Bengal tiger
Comes forth at night to roar,
Where Lake Nyanza splashes
Her waves upon the strand,
The niblicks, cleeks and mashies
Are clouting on the sand.

And men from County Mayo,
And Birmingham and Perth,
In far off Bulawayo
Dig up the torrid earth;
The tropic grasses sever
And send the clouds afar
As bravely they endeavor
To get around in par.

By many a distant river,
By many a mountain pass,
The number six clubs shiver
The unresisting grass.
And make unskilled attacks on
The shaved and verdant lawn;
Where goes the Anglo-Saxon
The game of golf has gone.

Can We Abolish Poverty?

By WILLIAM TRUFANT FOSTER and WADDILL CATCHINGS

Recently fifteen men, each man representing a different industry, sat around a dinner table.

Said the shoe manufacturer: "Our shoe factories are now operating far below capacity."

Said the tire manufacturer: "Our plants are only about 60 per cent productive."

"Sixty per cent!" exclaimed the cotton cloth manufacturer. "We should feel prosperous if our mills were as busy as that."

Each of the other men reported similar idleness of capital in his own business. Yet nobody was astonished; for everybody knows that industry always falls far short of using its resources.

No workman needs any proof of that. He sees the evidence on every hand. He is ready to believe the industrial engineers when they declare that the United States should increase its output 50 per cent, with nobody working more than eight hours a day, if only we could use our labor and capital to full advantage.

During the War, that was amply proved. In the United States, even after the Army and Navy had taken from their jobs more able-bodied men than the entire membership of the American Federation of Labor; even after millions of other workers had been diverted to the making of ships and munitions; still the workers who were left produced so much that they not only supplied the goods that were sunk at sea, not only supplied millions of fighters and civilians abroad, but also produced enough to maintain standards of living at home. Thus the War revealed, in glaring light, the chronic underproduction of pre-war years.

What a challenge is this! Evidently, we could abolish poverty in the United States, among those who were willing to work, if we could keep at peace with the world and continue to use our resources, human and material, even as effectively as at times we have already succeeded in using them.
